Two Are Burned In Accident On Rescue Ship

44 Survivors Of Airliner Aboard Craft

LONDON (UPI) — The British Admiralty said Tuesday night that two persons aboard the Swiss freighter Celerina, carrying 44 survivors from the ditched Flying Tiger airliner, were burned in an apparent accident, according to reports received from the ship.

At the same time the Royal Air Force rescue center at nearby Plymouth said the two injured persons were believed to be members of the crew. They apparently suffered the burns in a minor accident aboard ship.

An RAF spokesman said earlier reports of a fire aboard the 7,040-ton freighter, which is bound for Antwerp, Belgium, were unfounded, as far as information received by the RAF indicated.

Report Broadcast

The fire report was broadcast by the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) which attributed the news to the British Air Ministry. But an Air Ministry spokesman in London said he could not confirm the report which he said apparently came from a ministry source in Scotland.

The U. S., Third Air Force at South Ruislip, Near London, had no information about the Celerina being afire.

The Irish rescue service in Cork said Tuesday night a fast RAF launch was en route to a rendezvous with the Celerina 30 miles south of Cork.

Some of the survivors will be put aboard the launch and taken into Cork harbor. The service said the launch also would take off two badly burned persons from the Celerina.

But a spokesman could not say if the injured pair were among the plane's survivors or members of the vessel's crew. He did not know how many survivors will be brought in on the launch.

The launch is not expected in Cork harbor before about 6 a.m. EDT Wednesday, the spokesman added.

Ships Leave Area

Most of the huge fleet of rescue ships had already left the area by Tuesday night. The British Admiralty in London said there were no royal navy ships in the area

Living Cost Levels Off

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of living levelled off in August after a gradual rise that had boosted prices 1.2 per cent in the preceding 12 months. The Labor Department foresaw another small increase in September.

The Labor Department announced that its consumer price index stood unchanged last month at July's record level. Average prices held steady for food, housing, and medical and personal care. The cost of medical care was unchanged for the first time since 1954.

Prices for transportation, reading material and recreation increased, but were offset by lower prices for clothing.

The department's index for some 300 consumer items held steady at 105.5 per cent of 1957-59 prices.

But Robert J. Myers, deputy commissioner of labor statistics, said next month's report probably would show a slight increase in September prices because of higher costs for food, gasoline and automobiles.

Meat prices rose nearly 2 per cent in August, apparently because of seasonal factors. Myers said the increase did not reflect the farmers "strike" in the Midwest. He said any increase because of the strike would show up in the September statistics but that "the strike seems to have had very little continuing effect on the price of meat."

Rusk-Gromyko Talks Miss Vital Issues

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko met for more than three hours Tuesday but apparently failed to come to grips on the vital issues of Berlin and Cuba.

It was the first meeting of the two foreign ministers since the conference on Laos in Geneva last July. It is expected they will meet again in New York, but no date has been set.

Robert Manning, assistant secretary of state for public affairs, who briefed newsmen on the meeting, said that only Laos and a nuclear test ban had been discussed and that both subjects had been brought up by Rusk.

Asked specifically if Cuba and Berlin had been discussed, Manning replied no.

"The subjects were not brought up," he said.

He said that the United States is undertaking a military withdrawal from Laos as a result of the agreement reached in Geneva, and presumably this was touched upon.

On the nuclear test issue the United States has proposed a ban on tests in the atmosphere and underwater which would not be subject to inspection. Manning gave no indication of Gromyko's attitude on that proposal, which has not been accepted by the Soviet Union.

Gromyko was affable but not very communicative when he met reporters upon emerging from an elevator in the Waldorf Towers.

"Matters of general interest, including the work of the General

Soviet, Cuba Plan To Build Port For Fishing Fleet

HAVANA (AP) — The Soviet Union and Cuba plan to build a port somewhere on Cuba's 2,500-mile coastline as headquarters for a joint Atlantic fishing fleet, Fidel Castro announced Tuesday.

The bearded prime minister unveiled the plan in a television speech after signing a fishing treaty with Soviet Fisheries Minister A. A. Ishkov. He said the Russians will use the port under a 10-year contract "which surely will continue much longer than 10 years."

Castro said the port will cost 12 million pesos.

(The Cuban peso once was on a par with the U.S. dollar but has depreciated sharply in international trade during Castro's regime.)

As outlined by the prime minister, part of the cost will be financed by the Soviet Union, but the port will be built by Cuban labor with Cuban materials. Cuba will be compensated by additional Soviet food shipments.

Credit from the Soviet Union will finance the purchase of port machinery.

Cuban workers will operate the port, and its ownership will be vested in Cuba.

Without giving a date for the groundbreaking, Castro said the facilities will make unnecessary the trips Soviet trawlers now make to Eastern European ports for maintenance and overhaul.

A small flotilla of Soviet trawlers, equipped with refrigerator units and electronic detection equipment, arrived in Havana in the summer.

In Washington, the White House said it had no comment on Castro's announcement.

Western authorities suspect Soviet fishing fleets, fitted with mazes of electronic detection and radio equipment, are fishing for strategic information as well as fish in many of their operations around the globe.

Naval maneuvers attract them. Some showed up to monitor the latest U.S. nuclear tests in the Pacific. Soviet trawlers have been seen working in American coastal areas which native fishermen regard as poor pickings.

Senate Gives Passage To Farm Bill

All Republicans Oppose Measure, Roundly Denounced

By JERRY T. BAULCH

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate ignored a barrage of sharp-tongued denunciation of the compromise farm bill Tuesday and passed it 52 to 41, with the Republicans voting solidly against it.

The action sent the measure to President Kennedy, who is expected to sign it even though it contains only about half the authority he asked to control grain surpluses. Congress was put on notice that the administration will be back next year with a new request aimed at putting grain supplies in balance.

All 34 Republicans voting opposed the bill, and were joined by 7 Democrats. But the administration's half-way Senate victory was by a more comfortable margin than the hairline five votes by which the legislation squeezed through the House last week.

Worse Than No Bill

In five hours of debate the bill was denounced as worse than no bill at all, a monstrosity, almost diabolically conceived, a one-year political bribe for a select group of feed, grain, and wheat farmers, and costly.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, aiming his words at the housewife, said the measure's wheat provisions would raise the price of flour and bread to consumers.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, and assistant Senate Democratic leader Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., led the forces defending the measure — worked out in a Senate-House conference committee — as a good bill, "entirely realistic."

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana joined them by telling the Senate that the bill would assure fair and stable prices without imposing undue burdens on the taxpayers. Failure to accept the legislation, he said, would mean adding 500 million bushels to government stocks of feed grains and 150 million to stored wheat.

Among the Democrats who voted against it was Sen. Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico, who was secretary of agriculture under President Harry S. Truman. Anderson called it "a particularly bad bill" and said the levels of supports offered are "wholly unrealistic."

Other Democrats voting no were Sens. Harry F. Byrd and A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, James O. Eastland and John Stennis of Mississippi, Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, and William Proxmire of Wisconsin.

The bill lacks the program Kennedy asked to provide for control of milk production, which the administration contends is needed to halt costly pileups of surpluses.

It failed also to get a program providing for control of feed grains, although the bill provides a one-year extension of the present voluntary feed grain retirement program to pay farmers for idled land.

This program would not continue for 1964 and the following years under the bill. Feed grains would revert to a 1958 Farm Act that would leave farmers free to grow whatever acreage they desire.

Senate Group Refuses To Cite Steel Firms

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Judiciary Committee, with Republicans and southern Democrats in control refused Tuesday to vote contempt citations against four steel firms and nine of their executives who balked at surrendering secret cost data.

On a 10-5 vote the committee rebuffed attempts to force submission of the information to Sen. Estes Kefauver's antitrust subcommittee.

Kefauver said he needed to know how much it costs to make various steel products in preparation for an overhaul of the antitrust laws. His argument failed to persuade a single GOP committee member. The parent panel's four southern Democrats voted against him, too.

Four Democrats who lined up with Kefauver—Sens. John A. Carroll, Colo., Philip A. Hart, Mich., Edward V. Long, Mo., and Thomas J. Dodd—all are members of the subcommittee that had recommended the contempt citations.

The lopsided vote means that eight other companies, including U.S. Steel Corp., need not furnish cost information which they had agreed to provide under protest months ago.

According to Kefauver, the vote also meant that his planned investigation of alleged monopoly power in the steel industry would be "tremendously handicapped."

Carroll, who was defeated on a motion to postpone the showdown until Jan. 15, interpreted the vote as deciding only the narrow issue of whether it was wise to force Bethlehem, National, Republic and Armco Steel corporations to furnish the data now.

Soviets Set Off Atomic Test Blast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet Union Tuesday set off the second biggest atomic test of its current series, a blast reported of 30-megaton force.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced Tuesday that the atmospheric blast was set off in Novaya Zemlya Russian testing zone.

The AEC said it was slightly higher in yield than the multi-megaton test detonated by the Russians on Sept. 19.

Earlier, the Uppsala Seismological Institute in Sweden said that the test was 30 megatons, equal to 30 million tons of TNT.

It was the first time in six years that the Russians tested one of their nuclear devices in the afternoon. They generally do so in the early morning.

Negro Community Erupts Over Shooting Of Youth

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A Negro community erupted into violence over the fatal shooting of a youth by an elderly policeman and scores of officers broke up a mob after three officers had been hit by a shotgun charge early Tuesday.

The dead youth and the officer who shot him were Negroes.

The wounded officers, all white men, were among 85 police armed with riot guns and using police dogs rushed to the aid of the seven-man police force in suburban Kinloch, a community of 8,500 about four miles from the city limits of St. Louis.

A Negro bystander, William Anthony, 32, also was wounded by the shotgun charge fired from the darkness by an unknown assailant.

The trouble started Sunday when Kinloch Patrolman Israel Mason, 74, shot and killed Darnell Dortch, 20. Mason said his gun discharged accidentally as he struggled with Dortch, who, he said, refused to accept a careless driving warrant.

Mason turned in his resignation Tuesday and it was immediately accepted.

A school was burned, and seven other fires occurred in related violence that broke out Monday night and continued until Tuesday morning.

The Negroes gathered near the police station shouting, "We want Mason!"

Chief of Police Roosevelt Hoskins said: "There was a lot of yelling and scuffling. They began calling names at the policemen. We knew that meant trouble, but we tried to keep from hurting anyone."

Two fires were set in Hoskins' home, but the damage was not heavy.

Two shotgun blasts were fired through a front window of the police station Sunday night. No one was hurt.

Then a rash of fires that Kinloch Mayor Clarence Lee said were the work of arsonists erupted. Lee said the fires were due to "growing unrest and even hatred" caused by the shooting death.

Three of the fires were set within one hour Monday night and early Tuesday. A five-room frame wing of the Dunbar Grade School was destroyed by fire, and 1,000 children stayed home from school Tuesday.

St. Peter's Basilica May Bar Public

VATICAN CITY (UPI) —Vatican officials, worried over an attempted bombing of St. Peter's Basilica last Saturday, are considering closing the church to the public, the Italian news agency ANSA said Tuesday night.

The agency said officials have tentatively decided to close the church on Thursday and to keep it closed until shortly before the Ecumenical Council convenes there Oct. 11.

But a final decision on the matter is still pending, it said.

Britain Balks At Boycott

By FRANCIS L. McCARTHY
United Press International

The American Merchant Marine institute has cabled a second appeal to the International Chamber of Shipping in London urging a voluntary free world boycott of mounting Soviet-Cuban trade in the wake of a British refusal to cooperate in such an embargo.

Shipping sources disclosed the new appeal by the institute for a boycott as the 40,000-member National Maritime Union called on the United States government immediately to halt the use of Norwegian flag ships for any government cargo of charters.

The requested ban on Norwegian shipping for such cargo would be in retaliation for Norway's refusal to restrict their ships carrying Soviet cargo to Cuba.

NMU President Joseph Curren said the demand in a telegram to Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges in Washington.

The first appeal to the International Chamber of Shipping for a boycott was sent by the institute last week.

Britain's formal refusal to go along with it was made public Tuesday.

Great Britain was reported Tuesday to have refused to go along with any free-world boycott of mounting Soviet-Cuban trade.

The British refusal of cooperation in either an official or private crackdown on the Russian buildup in Cuba clashed with West Germany's prompt offer to help.

The Bonn government said West German shippers starting Wednesday would need licenses to carry anything from "guns to bananas" between Russia and Cuba.

Estes Granted 27-Day Delay In His Trial

TYLER, Tex. (UPI)—Billie Sol Estes, fighting for time, Tuesday won a 27-day postponement of his state trial on charges of theft and swindling.

On the second day of the trial of the bankrupt west Texas farm and fertilizer tycoon, District Judge Otis T. Dunagan accepted the defense request for more time to find witnesses and granted a continuance of the trial until Oct. 22. He did not grant the defense contention that a postponement was needed because of publicity.

Defense Attorney John D. Cofer of Austin argued that everyone from President Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy on down had decided beforehand that Estes is guilty.

The state opposed any delay in the trial, but the judge ruled both sides could use the additional time to prepare cases.

"I want to give this defendant and the state every opportunity to present their case to this court and to have their witnesses," Dunagan said.

It was the second delay in legal action against Estes. A trial scheduled in Pecos, Estes' hometown in west Texas was stopped and transferred on a change of venue to Tyler, 519 miles away in east Texas. The court in Pecos was unable to select a jury.

A delay in the Tyler trial had been expected. Traditionally, Texas courts accept initial defense pleas for postponements.

Estes, sitting in the courtroom, showed no signs of emotion when the judge made his announcement. He said later he had "no comment" on the postponement. He is free on bonds totaling $140,000.

Estes is charged by the state of Texas with 16 counts of four indictments charging theft, theft by false pretexts and theft by bailee (misuse of property entrusted to him).

He also faces a 29-count federal indictment of fraud and conspiracy to which he has pleaded innocent.

McNamara To Observe Army Units In Germany

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara will spend the next two days with Army units close to the Iron Curtain in Germany to check on procedures for controlling tactical nuclear weapons, it was disclosed Tuesday.

McNamara, accompanied by eight high civilians and military officials, was flying to Frankfurt.

Upon their arrival Wednesday the party will go immediately to front line areas where the units of the 7th U.S. Army are stationed and will spend Wednesday night in the field with troops. They will visit German units on Thursday.

Announcing the trip Tuesday, the Defense Department said "the primary purpose is to enable the secretary to observe first hand operations of small units in the field." For the most part, it said, McNamara will confine his attention to units below the division level.

The secretary's announced concern with front line units and other available information showed that his chief interest would be to examine "command and control" arrangements for small nuclear weapons in the hands of army troops.

Friday Date To Appear Is Stipulated

Blocks Meredith Admission To U. Of Mississippi

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Three judges of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals Tuesday night ordered Gov. Ross H. Barnett to appear in court here at 10 a.m. Friday to show cause why he should not be cited for contempt in blocking Negro James H. Meredith's admission to the University of Mississippi.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gov. Ross Barnett defied federal court orders again Tuesday and denied James H. Meredith, Negro, admission to the University of Mississippi. Almost immediately the Justice Department said it would seek a contempt citation against the governor.

The announcement from the Justice Department at Washington said papers were being drafted for presentation to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans.

A Justice Department spokesman said he understood that Meredith would make a third try to enroll Wednesday, this time at the campus at Oxford.

Registrar To Return

And the registrar of the university, Robert B. Ellis, said here Tuesday night that he expected to return to the campus and would register Meredith under orders from the State College Board if Meredith appeared.

The governor and Meredith, 29, met face-to-face for the second time in less than a week while a hooting, jeering crowd of 1,500 milled around outside the state office building.

Barnett, 64, met Meredith at the door of State College Board office, received copies of federal court orders, refused to accept them, and read a proclamation asserting the state's sovereignty in the case.

Federal Order Cited

A Justice Department attorney accompanying Meredith called attention to the federal court orders again. Barnett replied he was acting under state laws, the State Constitution, and portions of the U.S. Constitution delegating powers to the states.

The Justice Department attorney then asked: "Well, you refuse to register him?"

The governor replied: "I refuse politely."

The Justice Department attorney said: "We'll leave politely."

Meredith then went down on a special elevator, stepped into a lobby crowded with shouting white persons, and walked out of the building encircled by Mississippi highway patrolmen.

The highway patrolmen, locked arm in arm around Meredith, led the slim Negro to a waiting car while the crowd jeered and screamed.

When Meredith's car drove away, the crowd sent up a loud cheer.

Barnett, about 10 minutes trapped in an elevator trying to get down to the basement, stepped out of the building to the cheers of the crowd: "Go get 'em, Ross!" Barnett, too, was encircled by patrolmen.

Skybolt Missile Rated Success

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — A 4½ ton Skybolt missile, launched from a high-flying B52 jet bomber, thundered across the Atlantic Ocean Tuesday to its "Best success so far," a top program official said.

The sparkling performance by the slender, finned rocket was something of a surprise even to technicians who had first received indications that the Skybolt had fallen far short of its goal.

The faulty information was blamed on a failure of instrumentation carried aboard the 39-foot missile. "For some reason," said C. S. Perry, deputy director of the Douglas Company's Skybolt system subdivision, "the instrumentation went out. We don't know why."

Perry told United Press International later that "indications now are that it was the best success so far."

He said the second stage, which had been a sore spot in previous shots, operated considerably longer than had been first indicated. "We had lots of second stage burning. It probably cut off a bit too soon but only by a matter of a few seconds."

Carroll, who was defeated on a motion to postpone the showdown until Jan. 15, interpreted the vote as deciding only the narrow issue of whether it was wise to force Bethlehem, National, Republic and Armco Steel corporations to furnish the data now.

Soviets Set Off Atomic Test Blast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet Union Tuesday set off the second biggest atomic test of its current series, a blast reported of 30-megaton force.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced Tuesday that the atmospheric blast was set off in Novaya Zemlya Russian testing zone.

The AEC said it was slightly higher in yield than the multi-megaton test detonated by the Russians on Sept. 19.

Earlier, the Uppsala Seismological Institute in Sweden said that the test was 30 megatons, equal to 30 million tons of TNT.

It was the first time in six years that the Russians tested one of their nuclear devices in the afternoon. They generally do so in the early morning.

The twist is creating an interesting phenomenon. For the first time in history, clothes are being worn out from the inside.

Negro Community Erupts Over Shooting Of Youth

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A Negro community erupted into violence over the fatal shooting of a youth by an elderly policeman and scores of officers broke up a mob after three officers had been hit by a shotgun charge early Tuesday.

The dead youth and the officer who shot him were Negroes.

The wounded officers, all white men, were among 85 police armed with riot guns and using police dogs rushed to the aid of the seven-man police force in suburban Kinloch, a community of 8,500 about four miles from the city limits of St. Louis.

A Negro bystander, William Anthony, 32, also was wounded by the shotgun charge fired from the darkness by an unknown assailant.

The trouble started Sunday when Kinloch Patrolman Israel Mason, 74, shot and killed Darnell Dortch, 20. Mason said his gun discharged accidentally as he struggled with Dortch, who, he said, refused to accept a careless driving warrant.

Mason turned in his resignation Tuesday and it was immediately accepted.

A school was burned, and seven other fires occurred in related violence that broke out Monday night and continued until Tuesday morning.

The Negroes gathered near the police station shouting, "We want Mason!"

Chief of Police Roosevelt Hoskins said: "There was a lot of yelling and scuffling. They began calling names at the policemen. We knew that meant trouble, but we tried to keep from hurting anyone."

Two fires were set in Hoskins' home, but the damage was not heavy.

Two shotgun blasts were fired through a front window of the police station Sunday night. No one was hurt.

Then a rash of fires that Kinloch Mayor Clarence Lee said were the work of arsonists erupted. Lee said the fires were due to "growing unrest and even hatred" caused by the shooting death.

Three of the fires were set within one hour Monday night and early Tuesday. A five-room frame wing of the Dunbar Grade School was destroyed by fire, and 1,000 children stayed home from school Tuesday.

St. Peter's Basilica May Bar Public

VATICAN CITY (UPI) —Vatican officials, worried over an attempted bombing of St. Peter's Basilica last Saturday, are considering closing the church to the public, the Italian news agency ANSA said Tuesday night.

The agency said officials have tentatively decided to close the church on Thursday and to keep it closed until shortly before the Ecumenical Council convenes there Oct. 11.

But a final decision on the matter is still pending, it said.

Britain Balks At Boycott

By FRANCIS L. McCARTHY
United Press International

The American Merchant Marine institute has cabled a second appeal to the International Chamber of Shipping in London urging a voluntary free world boycott of mounting Soviet-Cuban trade in the wake of a British refusal to cooperate in such an embargo.

Shipping sources disclosed the new appeal by the institute for a boycott as the 40,000-member National Maritime Union called on the United States government immediately to halt the use of Norwegian flag ships for any government cargo of charters.

The requested ban on Norwegian shipping for such cargo would be in retaliation for Norway's refusal to restrict their ships carrying Soviet cargo to Cuba.

NMU President Joseph Curren said the demand in a telegram to Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges in Washington.

The first appeal to the International Chamber of Shipping for a boycott was sent by the institute last week.

Britain's formal refusal to go along with it was made public Tuesday.

Great Britain was reported Tuesday to have refused to go along with any free-world boycott of mounting Soviet-Cuban trade.

The British refusal of cooperation in either an official or private crackdown on the Russian buildup in Cuba clashed with West Germany's prompt offer to help.

The Bonn government said West German shippers starting Wednesday would need licenses to carry anything from "guns to bananas" between Russia and Cuba.

Estes Granted 27-Day Delay In His Trial

TYLER, Tex. (UPI)—Billie Sol Estes, fighting for time, Tuesday won a 27-day postponement of his state trial on charges of theft and swindling.

On the second day of the trial of the bankrupt west Texas farm and fertilizer tycoon, District Judge Otis T. Dunagan accepted the defense request for more time to find witnesses and granted a continuance of the trial until Oct. 22. He did not grant the defense contention that a postponement was needed because of publicity.

Defense Attorney John D. Cofer of Austin argued that everyone from President Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy on down had decided beforehand that Estes is guilty.

The state opposed any delay in the trial, but the judge ruled both sides could use the additional time to prepare cases.

"I want to give this defendant and the state every opportunity to present their case to this court and to have their witnesses," Dunagan said.

It was the second delay in legal action against Estes. A trial scheduled in Pecos, Estes' hometown in west Texas was stopped and transferred on a change of venue to Tyler, 519 miles away in east Texas. The court in Pecos was unable to select a jury.

A delay in the Tyler trial had been expected. Traditionally, Texas courts accept initial defense pleas for postponements.

Estes, sitting in the courtroom, showed no signs of emotion when the judge made his announcement. He said later he had "no comment" on the postponement. He is free on bonds totaling $140,000.

Estes is charged by the state of Texas with 16 counts of four indictments charging theft, theft by false pretexts and theft by bailee (misuse of property entrusted to him).

He also faces a 29-count federal indictment of fraud and conspiracy to which he has pleaded innocent.

McNamara To Observe Army Units In Germany

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara will spend the next two days with Army units close to the Iron Curtain in Germany to check on procedures for controlling tactical nuclear weapons, it was disclosed Tuesday.

McNamara, accompanied by eight high civilians and military officials, was flying to Frankfurt.

Upon their arrival Wednesday the party will go immediately to front line areas where the units of the 7th U.S. Army are stationed and will spend Wednesday night in the field with troops. They will visit German units on Thursday.

Announcing the trip Tuesday, the Defense Department said "the primary purpose is to enable the secretary to observe first hand operations of small units in the field." For the most part, it said, McNamara will confine his attention to units below the division level.

The secretary's announced concern with front line units and other available information showed that his chief interest would be to examine "command and control" arrangements for small nuclear weapons in the hands of army troops.

Friday Date To Appear Is Stipulated

Blocks Meredith Admission To U. Of Mississippi

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Three judges of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals Tuesday night ordered Gov. Ross H. Barnett to appear in court here at 10 a.m. Friday to show cause why he should not be cited for contempt in blocking Negro James H. Meredith's admission to the University of Mississippi.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gov. Ross Barnett defied federal court orders again Tuesday and denied James H. Meredith, Negro, admission to the University of Mississippi. Almost immediately the Justice Department said it would seek a contempt citation against the governor.

The announcement from the Justice Department at Washington said papers were being drafted for presentation to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans.

A Justice Department spokesman said he understood that Meredith would make a third try to enroll Wednesday, this time at the campus at Oxford.

Registrar To Return

And the registrar of the university, Robert B. Ellis, said here Tuesday night that he expected to return to the campus and would register Meredith under orders from the State College Board if Meredith appeared.

The governor and Meredith, 29, met face-to-face for the second time in less than a week while a hooting, jeering crowd of 1,500 milled around outside the state office building.

Barnett, 64, met Meredith at the door of State College Board office, received copies of federal court orders, refused to accept them, and read a proclamation asserting the state's sovereignty in the case.

Federal Order Cited

A Justice Department attorney accompanying Meredith called attention to the federal court orders again. Barnett replied he was acting under state laws, the State Constitution, and portions of the U.S. Constitution delegating powers to the states.

The Justice Department attorney then asked: "Well, you refuse to register him?"

The governor replied: "I refuse politely."

The Justice Department attorney said: "We'll leave politely."

Meredith then went down on a special elevator, stepped into a lobby crowded with shouting white persons, and walked out of the building encircled by Mississippi highway patrolmen.

The highway patrolmen, locked arm in arm around Meredith, led the slim Negro to a waiting car while the crowd jeered and screamed.

When Meredith's car drove away, the crowd sent up a loud cheer.

Barnett, about 10 minutes trapped in an elevator trying to get down to the basement, stepped out of the building to the cheers of the crowd: "Go get 'em, Ross!" Barnett, too, was encircled by patrolmen.

Skybolt Missile Rated Success

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — A 4½ ton Skybolt missile, launched from a high-flying B52 jet bomber, thundered across the Atlantic Ocean Tuesday to its "Best success so far," a top program official said.

The sparkling performance by the slender, finned rocket was something of a surprise even to technicians who had first received indications that the Skybolt had fallen far short of its goal.

The faulty information was blamed on a failure of instrumentation carried aboard the 39-foot missile. "For some reason," said C. S. Perry, deputy director of the Douglas Company's Skybolt system subdivision, "the instrumentation went out. We don't know why."

Perry told United Press International later that "indications now are that it was the best success so far."

He said the second stage, which had been a sore spot in previous shots, operated considerably longer than had been first indicated. "We had lots of second stage burning. It probably cut off a bit too soon but only by a matter of a few seconds."

Senate Group Approves Potomac River Compact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee approved Tuesday a House-passed resolution to grant the consent of Congress to a 1958 compact between Maryland and Virginia creating the Potomac River Fisheries Commission.

The commission would regulate the taking of seafood and fish from the Potomac River between the District of Columbia line and Chesapeake Bay.

The Maryland Legislature enacted the compact in 1958, and Maryland voters approved it in a referendum in Nov., 1960. The compact spells out Maryland's and Virginia's fishing rights in the tidewater section of the river.

A group of Southern Maryland watermen had challenged the validity of the referendum on the ground it had not been properly advertised.

However, the Maryland Court of Appeals sustained the referendum and the U.S. Supreme Court declined to review the case.

A special commission composed of five Marylanders and five Virginians drew up the compact as a replacement for an agreement which dated back to 1785.

Before the creation of the compact, which requires congressional approval, disagreement over fishing rights in the Potomac reached the gunfire stage. The so-called "Oyster War" resulted.

Austria Needs Ties With Common Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dr. Reinhard Kamitz, president of the Austrian National Bank, warned Tuesday that if Austria fails in her bid for associate membership in the European Common Market, it would be "very difficult to refuse" economic offers from the Soviet bloc.

Kamitz defended attempts by neutral Austria to join the Common Market against criticism from Russia, the U.S. and the "neutralist" nations. But, he said, such association is the only way for a country such as Austria to "increase productivity and production and thus the standard of living."

General Electric Signs Decree In Settlement

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—General Electric Co. today signed a consent decree with the federal government, thereby becoming the first to settle all civil and criminal cases arising out of the federal antitrust indictments in the sale and manufacture of heavy electrical equipment.

GE, the nation's largest electrical firm, still has pending against it scores of damage suits brought by its customers—private utilities and governmental units—for alleged overcharges during the period of antitrust violations.

Today's consent decree—which must still be approved by the presiding judge in the case—stipulates that GE will not fix prices, rig bids or otherwise violate the antitrust laws in the manufacture, distribution or sale of heavy electrical equipment.

Donald G. Balthis, head of the government antitrust division here, recommended approval of the consent decree and said this would complete the civil and criminal action against GE in this case.

Balthis also asked the court to sign 17 other similar consent decrees involving 13 other electrical firms which produce—with GE—the bulk of the equipment used to generate and distribute electricity in this country.

Ford Offers 24-Month Warranty

All 1963 Models To Be Included

DETROIT (UPI) —Ford Motor Co. announced Tuesday it will extend the 24-month, 24,000 -mile warranty on the Lincoln-Continental to all its cars and trucks in 1963.

General Motors took the lead Monday night, announcing it would double the present 12-month, 12,000-mile guarantee when it brings out new cars and trucks on Friday.

It took Ford less than a day to follow GM. American Motors and Studebaker probably will join the two industry giants in guaranteeing all major parts on all new cars for two years.

Chrysler was in a somewhat different position. It started the trend to longer warranties last month by announcing a five-year, 50,000-mile guarantee on only the power train components.

The other firms countered with the blanket two-year warranty on all parts, leaving Chrysler with a so-called "12-12" policy on part of the car and a "5-50" warranty on the rest.

The new "24-24" policies guarantee that any parts found with a defect in material or workmanship will be replaced free of charge by authorized dealers.

Exceptions are tires and tubes and normal maintenance operations such as engine tune-ups and brake adjustments. Thus the owner, as in the past, will have to pay for things like spark plugs and filters.

Ford said its new policy is "a natural outgrowth of other improved maintenance features" on its cars such as 36,000 mile intervals between major lubrications and 6,000 miles between oil changes.

HARRY S. MURPHY JR.

Printer Says He First Broke Old Miss Line

NEW YORK (UPI)—A New York printer said Tuesday that he, not James Meredith, was the first Negro to integrate the University of Mississippi although the institution did not know it at the time.

Harry S. Murphy Jr., 35, attended Ole Miss in 1945-46 in the Navy's V-12 program.

He has dark hair, brown eyes and a light skin. He looks more like a white man than a Negro.

Murphy said it was not so much keeping his race a secret as it was that "they just assumed that I was white."

He has a University of Mississippi identification card. It contains a photograph of him in a Navy unoifrm and on the back says "this ticket is your official Ole Miss identification card."

A check of University records shows that Murphy was a student in 1945-46. There is a picture of him in the yearbook. School files list him as white. So do Navy records.

The 23rd amendment to the Constitution gave the presidential vote to the District of Columbia.

Inland Steel Awards Pacts

CHICAGO (UPI)—Inland Steel Co. announced Tuesday it has awarded contracts totaling "several million dollars" to two firms for electrical equipment for a new hot strip mill.

The contracts were let to Westinghouse Electric Corp. and General Electric Co.

Inland said the new 80-inch continuous hot strip mill is a major part in the first stage of a planned giant long-range expansion program by the firm.

When installed, the mill will add 70 per cent to the hot rolled sheet capacity of Inland's Indiana Harbor Works in East Chicago, Ind. Completion is scheduled for late 1964.

Leigh B. Block, vice president of purchases, said the new mill will enable the firm to roll steel to precise dimensions at speeds never before possible.

China, with about one-fourth of the world's population, occupies a territory in the eastern part of Asia about one-third larger than the continental United States.

Two MIG Jets Buzz Transport

BERLIN (UPI) —Two Soviet MIG jet fighters crossed barely 300 feet in front of a U.S. Air Force C47 transport Tuesday, almost causing a collision, in the Berlin - Frankfurt air corridor over East Germany.

The apparent buzzing came shortly after completion of a large-scale U.S. troop movement to and from Berlin and other firm expressions of American determination to keep the divided city from being entirely swallowed by the Communists.

A U.S. spokesman said the slow, propeller-drive twin-engined C47—military version of the DC3 transport—was on a flight from Berlin to West Germany through the southernmost of the three Western air corridors.

"About 45 miles southwest of Templehof Airport (in West Berlin) it was approached by two Soviet fighter aircraft which flew across its flight path at a distance of 300 feet," he said.

The chartered Super-Constellation, with three of its four engines dead, came down in the gale whipped sea 550 miles northwest of Ireland. It was carrying 68 servicemen, and their women and children dependents, plus eight crew members from the United States to Germany.

"The search has been called off," a British Air Ministry spokesman said.

The Swiss freighter Celerina had reported earlier that it was steaming at full 14-knot speed toward Antwerp, Belgium, with most of the 48 survivors it had plucked from bobbing life rafts Monday. It was expected to arrive there Thursday afternoon.

Passengers Transfer

Some ill and injured passengers were transferred to the Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure, which was expected to fly them by helicopter to Shannon Wednesday.

A radio message from the Canadian carrier gave the first details of the night of horror when the plane bound from McGuire Air Force Base, N. J., to Frankfurt ditched into waves 10 to 12 feet high in the pitch-dark north Atlantic.

"Seats on the left side of the cabin broke loose and hurtled forward," the carrier reported. It was the passengers in these seats who were injured.

The message told of an Air Force major who held his wife's head above water. Her shoulder was dislocated and both were bruised and cut. They survived.

"A young German girl, married about a year to an American Army sergeant, held his hand as they jumped from the aircraft into the black spray," the Bonaventure reported. The girl was rescued but the sergeant is missing.

The Swiss freighter Celerina had reported earlier that it was steaming at full 14-knot speed toward Antwerp, Belgium, with most of the 48 survivors it had plucked from bobbing life rafts Monday. It was expected to arrive there Thursday afternoon.

Passengers Transfer

Some ill and injured passengers were transferred to the Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure, which was expected to fly them by helicopter to Shannon Wednesday.

A radio message from the Canadian carrier gave the first details of the night of horror when the plane bound from McGuire Air Force Base, N. J., to Frankfurt ditched into waves 10 to 12 feet high in the pitch-dark north Atlantic.

"Seats on the left side of the cabin broke loose and hurtled forward," the carrier reported. It was the passengers in these seats who were injured.

The message told of an Air Force major who held his wife's head above water. Her shoulder was dislocated and both were bruised and cut. They survived.

"A young German girl, married about a year to an American Army sergeant, held his hand as they jumped from the aircraft into the black spray," the Bonaventure reported. The girl was rescued but the sergeant is missing.

Army Study On Putting Man On Moon Classified

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 1959 Army study on how to put men on the moon by 1965 has had 10 separate security reviews by three different government agencies and the original four volumes have been sliced to two by censors.

Yet the document still is technically barred from public scrutiny, at the behest of the State Department, and the chairman of a House Government Information subcommittee wants to know why.

The chairman, Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., it was learned Monday, has written to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara asking him to justify continued secrecy wraps on the three-year-old report, called "Project Horizon."

Moss said the chairman of the House Science and Astronautics Committee, the late Rep. Overton Brooks, D-La., on Aug. 3, 1961, asked McNamara to provide the committee with a declassified version of the Project Horizon study, after the Army itself had recommended declassification.

Since then, Moss told McNamara, his subcommittee staff has been informed "that the Army conducted four separate security reviews of the material.

"In the process, a four-volume work has been cut at least in half as security-sensitive portions of the study have been removed.

"In addition the Office of Defense Research and Engineering is reported to have conducted three security reviews of the material, and the Department of State has gone over the report three times.

"The subcommittee was informed that on Sept. 12, 1962, the State Department finally recommended against release of a revised version of the report."

The Associated Press obtained access to the study last week and reported that the Army was saying more than three years ago that anything short of being first on the moon would be catastrophic.

$25 Weekly Can Feed Four; Chefs Prove

By GERALD S. SNYDER

GREENWICH, Conn. (UPI) — Four chefs from classy New York eateries raced through a supermarket in this wealthy suburb in a successful effort to prove that a weekly $25 (plus a little bit of courage) is all that is needed to feed a family of four.

Pilin' up cans, and pickin' up steam to finish within 27 minutes (the time an average family shops during each of three weekly visits) they readily agreed that a supermarket spree can be a bargain-go-around. But, with certain reservations, they admitted.

Passes Swiss Pate

Swiss-born Albert T. Stockli of the Four Seasons, had to push his way bravely past the Swiss pate with truffles on his way to buy cauliflower and cabbage.

Italians Anthony Pagan of Camillo's and Secondo Sanchioli of Sardi's nobly by-passed the Sicilian prosciutto and fine parmeggiano. They smilingly kept within budget on spaghetti and meat balls, fresh vegetables and popular canned soups.

German-born George Waldner of Miller's restaurant likewise paid no attention to the Westphalian ham and expensive spickbrust. Spending $24.44, he planned a family menu that included two dozen fresh eggs, pork chops, baked beans, lots of milk and chicken for Sunday.

Frenchman Jean Vergennes, executive chef for the Stop and Shop market, where the experiment took place, acted as host during the procedings and —in friendly good tune with the others — put in no word for the French mushroom soup or assorted hors d' oeuvres.

Follows Sign's Advice

Instead, he pointed to such signs as "Here's a Bargain You Won't Want to Miss!" And the culinary experts happily followed the advice.

The chefs who each had just $25 to spend and only the 27 minutes in which to spend it, loaded their shopping with everything from chopped chuck and turkey to fettucini, applesauce and bread crumbs.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sometime during this day, a couple of hearty souls will chat with you about the weather.

One's bound to say: "Everyone talks about it—but no one does anything about it."

When you hear those words, be the weather rainy or fair, grab the chance to shine the egghead way. Explode the myth. Plenty's being done about the weather.

At the National Science Foundation in Washington, research dealing with wind, rain and snow falls into a class of studies headed "weather modification."

It's a law, in fact, that scientific sleuths there "initiate and support a program of study, research, and evaluation in the field of weather modification."

The mandate, Public Law 85-510 of July 11, 1958, has stirred so much research that the foundation recently issued a booklet on weather modification.

Makes Some Progress

So far, no one has figured how to make rain go away the guaranteed way the day a picnic's scheduled. But there has been progress.

Take hail. Present theory indicates that hail can be suppressed by cloud seeding.

"A large number of commercial and experimental projects to this end have been conducted in the United States and Canada. . ." the foundation reports. "The physics of hail formation must be better understood before further progress can be expected."

Weather modification activities of the Department of Agriculture include research concerning lightning—the largest single cause of forest fires in the western United States.

The research, known as Project Skyfire, follows two main lines of study:

—The study of the electrical characteristics of lightning storms in the northern rocky mountain region.

—The evaluation of the effects, if any, of cloud seeding on lightning occurrence.

"The first accomplishments have been the developing of background information on the occurrence and movement of thunderstorms. . .," the foundation reported.

Shows Less Lightning

The first season of evaluating the effect of cloud seeding on lightning showed less lightning on days scientists tinkered with the clouds.

Before scientists can draw definite conclusions, however, the results of several seasons of seeding must be sifted.

Among weather modification projects, the most spectacular experiment concerns the dissipation of shallow ground fog.

The research, by the U.S. Army for the Department of Defense, showed shallow ground fog can be shocked out of sight.

Researchers stretched a wire two to three feet above ground over a shallow artificial fog layer and charged it with 20 to 30 thousand volts.

The electrical wind that formed due to the potential difference between wire and ground, pulled warm air down and caused immediate dissipation of the fog.

A new milk drying process developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture offers considerable savings in the manufacture of nonfat milk powder. The process spray-dries highly concentrated milk foamed by the injection of compressed air or nitrogen.

A measure of economic growth is the Gross National Product which is the sum of the values of all the goods and services produced by a nation in a given period, including governmental services.

State Acquires 330 Acres More Of Assateague Is.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland acquired 330 more acres of land on Assateague Island Tuesday at a cost of $199,000.

The state's holdings on the spit of land between the Atlantic Ocean and Sinepuxent Bay now total nearly 600 acres at a cost of $276,432.

S. Lawrence Hammerman, chairman of the Maryland Commission of Forests and Parks, announced the 330 acres were bought in negotiation with the Cecil Amusement Co. and a group known as the "Tunis heirs." Another section of nearly 300 acres was obtained for $77,432 last week after condemnation hearing before a jury in Worcester County Circuit Court.

Campaign Issue

Frank Small Jr., Republican candidate for governor, has made the land acquisition an issue in his campaign against Democratic Gov. Tawes.

The state also has committed itself to pay most of the cost of a bridge to the island.

Small criticized total appropriations of $750,000 for the land acquisition.

Hammerman said four appraisals of the land for which it paid $199,000 ranged from $665,000 to more than $1 million.

In view of the appraisals, Hammerman said he felt the negotiated price paid by the state "represents a most favorable settlement for the state."

Joseph D. Buscher, special assistant attorney general who represented the state in the negotiations, said he understood that Cecil Amusement Co. would receive 66⅔ per cent, or approximately $133,000, of the payment.

The amusement company had claimed or disputed title to some of the land claimed by the Tunis heirs.

Cecil Amusement's role in the land dealing promoted considerable controversy because it originally was represented by Daniel B. Brewster, former state delegate, incumbent congressman and current Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate.

Said He Withdrew

Under Brewster's original agreement as legal representative he would have received 12½ per cent of any sale. Brewster said he withdrew as legal representative to run for the Senate.

Cecil's lawyers in the final settlement were listed as James Cook, former Towson law partner of Brewster, Hyman A. Pressman of Baltimore, and William Price of Snow Hill.

The Tunis heirs were represented by George McManus of Baltimore.

There were nearly 2,900 defendants listed in the lots condemned before the jury last week.

Another strip of land owned by Robert S. Walker along the Atlantic Ocean still is subject to negotiation by the state. Walker had been associated with Leon A. Ackerman of Washington who sold off many of the lots on Assateague starting in 1950.

With the land already in state position, Hammerman said "we can now proceed with our plans to create a state park which will offer a wide variety of recreational opportunities for the citizens of Maryland and those who visit our state."

Hammerman said the state also "is in a position to apply for federal funds to help in the development of the region."

There has been some pressure for the state to acquire as much of the 23-mile strip as feasible and set it all aside for public use. The lower part of the island in Virginia is a federal wildlife preserve.

Maryland Briefs

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department announced Tuesday the Storer College property at Harpers Ferry, W.Va., has been added to the Harpers Ferry National Monument.

Congress authorized purchase of the college in 1960 but title defects necessitated condemnation proceedings. The price was $205,000. Storer was a college for Negroes from shortly after the Civil War until a few years ago.

Harpers Ferry is at the confluence of the Shenandoah and Potomac rivers where Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia meet.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Martin Co. announced Tuesday plans to link electronic computers in its Baltimore and Denver divisions by means of long-distance telephone lines.

The company said the 1,500-mile connection, expected to be completed by December, is aimed at meeting an anticipated overload at the Denver computer center this fall.

WASHINGTON (AP(— A Charles County boy struck by two vehicles as he delivered newspapers on his bicycle was in serious condition Tuesday in Hadley Memorial Hospital in Washington.

State Trooper W. L. Willis said 13-year-old Gary Lee Daugherty of Bryans Road collided with a panel truck then was struck by a car when thrown from his bicycle. He said the boy suffered head injuries and might possibly lose the sight of his right eye.

The accident happened Monday on Maryland 210 about 500 feet north of the Prince Georges-Charles County line.

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP) — George L. Radcliffe of Baltimore, former U.S. senator who is president of the Maryland Historical Society, was among those attending a centennial celebration of the historic "Civil War Governors Conference" in Altoona.

West Virginia Gov. W. W. Barron also attended the celebration Monday held 100 years to the day after Pennsylvania Gov. Andrew G. Curtin called the conference 100 years ago. At the time, 15 governors affirmed their support of President Lincoln in the Civil War.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A man apparently overcome by gas while digging a trench for sewerage was brought to South Baltimore General Hospital Tuesday by ambulance.

George Reese, 36, of Baltimore, was treated for leg injuries and held for x-rays. He told doctors he was at work above the trench in suburban Anne Arendel County when he smelled something, then lost consciousness.

Unmarked Cars To Be Hiked By Md. Police

BALTIMORE (AP) — The number of Maryland State Police patrolling in unmarked cars will be increased in an attempt to reduce the accidental death toll on state highways.

"It has been clearly shown that some drivers wilfully violate the motor vehicles if they think they can get away with it," Superintendent Carey Jarman said Tuesday.

"We feel that by making the presence of the trooper less obvious, the deterrent effect on potential violators will be greater than at present.

"It may even result in fewer arrests. We hope so."

The State Police count of fatalities this year is 406, an increase of 98 over last year.

State To Get $600,000 For Storm Damage

President Kennedy Approves Funds

BALTIMORE (AP) — President Kennedy has approved allocation of an additional $600,000 to Maryland to help pay for damages done by the early-March Atlantic Coast storm.

The additional allocation brings to $1.9 million the total the federal government has set aside for damages to public facilities in Maryland. Most of the damage was done in the Ocean City area.

Sunday night another storm battered the coast near Ocean City, but the storm was only a midget compared to the one last March.

The storm tested the protective barrier of sand which the Army Corps of Engineers built above Ocean City.

Col. Roy S. Kelley said in a statement from his Baltimore office, that the recently constructed dune line may have prevented property damage north of Ocean City.

Kelley said 30 m.p.h. winds drove waves across the beaches on top of tides which were 2½ to 3½ feet above normal. But the storm appeared only to have damaged dunes which were not completed.

The district engineer said if the Army had not been delayed in constructing the dunes the effect of Sunday's storm would have been unnoticeable.

Soldier's Rescue Brings Joy

MANCHESTER, Md. (AP)—The mother of a soldier aboard a ditched airliner says the family wept tears of joy upon learning of his rescue.

Word that the soldier, Larry E. Davidson, was safe came late Monday during a news broadcast. His mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Davidson, and his 15-year-old sister, Ann, listened to the broadcast in the family living room.

The soldier was among 76 persons aboard a Flying Tiger airliner which plunged into the stormy Atlantic Ocean 500 miles west of the Irish Coast. At least 12 deaths resulted, and at latest count there were 48 survivors, including Private Davidson.

Mrs. Davidson said the entire family broke down in tears when word was received of the soldier's safety. She said the official announcement came more than four hours after the news broadcast.

"We never gave up hope," said Mrs. Davidson.

State Acquires 330 Acres More Of Assateague Is.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland acquired 330 more acres of land on Assateague Island Tuesday at a cost of $199,000.

The state's holdings on the spit of land between the Atlantic Ocean and Sinepuxent Bay now total nearly 600 acres at a cost of $276,432.

S. Lawrence Hammerman, chairman of the Maryland Commission of Forests and Parks, announced the 330 acres were bought in negotiation with the Cecil Amusement Co. and a group known as the "Tunis heirs." Another section of nearly 300 acres was obtained for $77,432 last week after condemnation hearing before a jury in Worcester County Circuit Court.

Campaign Issue

Frank Small Jr., Republican candidate for governor, has made the land acquisition an issue in his campaign against Democratic Gov. Tawes.

The state also has committed itself to pay most of the cost of a bridge to the island.

Small criticized total appropriations of $750,000 for the land acquisition.

Hammerman said four appraisals of the land for which it paid $199,000 ranged from $665,000 to more than $1 million.

In view of the appraisals, Hammerman said he felt the negotiated price paid by the state "represents a most favorable settlement for the state."

Joseph D. Buscher, special assistant attorney general who represented the state in the negotiations, said he understood that Cecil Amusement Co. would receive 66⅔ per cent, or approximately $133,000, of the payment.

The amusement company had claimed or disputed title to some of the land claimed by the Tunis heirs.

Cecil Amusement's role in the land dealing promoted considerable controversy because it originally was represented by Daniel B. Brewster, former state delegate, incumbent congressman and current Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate.

Said He Withdrew

Under Brewster's original agreement as legal representative he would have received 12½ per cent of any sale. Brewster said he withdrew as legal representative to run for the Senate.

Cecil's lawyers in the final settlement were listed as James Cook, former Towson law partner of Brewster, Hyman A. Pressman of Baltimore, and William Price of Snow Hill.

The Tunis heirs were represented by George McManus of Baltimore.

There were nearly 2,900 defendants listed in the lots condemned before the jury last week.

Another strip of land owned by Robert S. Walker along the Atlantic Ocean still is subject to negotiation by the state. Walker had been associated with Leon A. Ackerman of Washington who sold off many of the lots on Assateague starting in 1950.

With the land already in state position, Hammerman said "we can now proceed with our plans to create a state park which will offer a wide variety of recreational opportunities for the citizens of Maryland and those who visit our state."

Hammerman said the state also "is in a position to apply for federal funds to help in the development of the region."

There has been some pressure for the state to acquire as much of the 23-mile strip as feasible and set it all aside for public use. The lower part of the island in Virginia is a federal wildlife preserve.

Maryland Briefs

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department announced Tuesday the Storer College property at Harpers Ferry, W.Va., has been added to the Harpers Ferry National Monument.

Congress authorized purchase of the college in 1960 but title defects necessitated condemnation proceedings. The price was $205,000. Storer was a college for Negroes from shortly after the Civil War until a few years ago.

Harpers Ferry is at the confluence of the Shenandoah and Potomac rivers where Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia meet.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Martin Co. announced Tuesday plans to link electronic computers in its Baltimore and Denver divisions by means of long-distance telephone lines.

The company said the 1,500-mile connection, expected to be completed by December, is aimed at meeting an anticipated overload at the Denver computer center this fall.

WASHINGTON (AP(— A Charles County boy struck by two vehicles as he delivered newspapers on his bicycle was in serious condition Tuesday in Hadley Memorial Hospital in Washington.

State Trooper W. L. Willis said 13-year-old Gary Lee Daugherty of Bryans Road collided with a panel truck then was struck by a car when thrown from his bicycle. He said the boy suffered head injuries and might possibly lose the sight of his right eye.

The accident happened Monday on Maryland 210 about 500 feet north of the Prince Georges-Charles County line.

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP) — George L. Radcliffe of Baltimore, former U.S. senator who is president of the Maryland Historical Society, was among those attending a centennial celebration of the historic "Civil War Governors Conference" in Altoona.

West Virginia Gov. W. W. Barron also attended the celebration Monday held 100 years to the day after Pennsylvania Gov. Andrew G. Curtin called the conference 100 years ago. At the time, 15 governors affirmed their support of President Lincoln in the Civil War.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A man apparently overcome by gas while digging a trench for sewerage was brought to South Baltimore General Hospital Tuesday by ambulance.

George Reese, 36, of Baltimore, was treated for leg injuries and held for x-rays. He told doctors he was at work above the trench in suburban Anne Arendel County when he smelled something, then lost consciousness.

Unmarked Cars To Be Hiked By Md. Police

BALTIMORE (AP) — The number of Maryland State Police patrolling in unmarked cars will be increased in an attempt to reduce the accidental death toll on state highways.

"It has been clearly shown that some drivers wilfully violate the motor vehicles if they think they can get away with it," Superintendent Carey Jarman said Tuesday.

"We feel that by making the presence of the trooper less obvious, the deterrent effect on potential violators will be greater than at present.

"It may even result in fewer arrests. We hope so."

State To Get $600,000 For Storm Damage

President Kennedy Approves Funds

BALTIMORE (AP) — President Kennedy has approved allocation of an additional $600,000 to Maryland to help pay for damages done by the early-March Atlantic Coast storm.

The additional allocation brings to $1.9 million the total the federal government has set aside for damages to public facilities in Maryland. Most of the damage was done in the Ocean City area.

Sunday night another storm battered the coast near Ocean City, but the storm was only a midget compared to the one last March.

The storm tested the protective barrier of sand which the Army Corps of Engineers built above Ocean City.

Col. Roy S. Kelley said in a statement from his Baltimore office, that the recently constructed dune line may have prevented property damage north of Ocean City.

Kelley said 30 m.p.h. winds drove waves across the beaches on top of tides which were 2½ to 3½ feet above normal. But the storm appeared only to have damaged dunes which were not completed.

The district engineer said if the Army had not been delayed in constructing the dunes the effect of Sunday's storm would have been unnoticeable.

Soldier's Rescue Brings Joy

MANCHESTER, Md. (AP)—The mother of a soldier aboard a ditched airliner says the family wept tears of joy upon learning of his rescue.

Word that the soldier, Larry E. Davidson, was safe came late Monday during a news broadcast. His mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Davidson, and his 15-year-old sister, Ann, listened to the broadcast in the family living room.

The soldier was among 76 persons aboard a Flying Tiger airliner which plunged into the stormy Atlantic Ocean 500 miles west of the Irish Coast. At least 12 deaths resulted, and at latest count there were 48 survivors, including Private Davidson.

Mrs. Davidson said the entire family broke down in tears when word was received of the soldier's safety. She said the official announcement came more than four hours after the news broadcast.

"We never gave up hope," said Mrs. Davidson.

Manchester is in Carroll County.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You've helped others. I hope you can help me. My husband has gotten into a habit of plopping down on the sofa after supper to watch TV. He usually drinks about five or six cans of beer and falls asleep. When I get ready for bed I can't budge him. He weighs 220 pounds and you might as well try to move an elephant. I've tried to wake him up but he's a terribly mean sleeper and he hits and kicks me.

In the morning when he wakes up and discovers he's in the living room he gets raving mad. He says his back aches because the sofa is lumpy and his feet hurt because he falls asleep with his shoes on.

When I tell him I tried to wake him up and get him to go to bed he doesn't believe me. I need help and I hope you can suggest something. — JESSIE

DEAR JESSIE: Your husband is not exactly falling asleep. Passing out is more like it. You can't wake him up because he's in an alcoholic stupor.

If you could persuade him to cut down on the beer your other problem would be solved. In the meantime, get the sofa upholstered and take his shoes off.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 14-year-old girl who feels she is being taken advantage of. In July my aunt and uncle moved to this city from another town. They have four children. The oldest is eight years of age and the baby is two.

At first I was happy to help out because my Aunt had a lot to do getting settled. I washed and fed the kids, the baby-sat with them during the day. I also sat evenings. I had to pass up going swimming and to the movies with my friends but I didn't complain because I knew I was needed.

Now my aunt expects me to be a nursemaid and a free sitter all the time. She doesn't even ask me. She tells my mother and I am ordered to go over there.

My mother says blood is thicker than water and I should not expect pay for helping relatives. I don't agree. If you say my mother is right I will stop complaining. Thank you. — NATALIE

DEAR NATALIE: I do not feel that your mother is right and I'm not going to say she's right just because she's your mother.

Now that your aunt is settled, if she wants you to wash, feed or sit with her children she should pay you as she would pay any other sitter. I don't buy the theory that a blood relationship gives people the right to take advantage of one another.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My daughter recently married a fine young fellow who lives in an eastern city. She has gone there to live. The marriage was an elopement and I've never met the young man's parents.

They have received my daughter most graciously and from her glowing letters they must be wonderful people. Would it be proper for me to write to them? I would like to but I don't know how to phrase a letter. Your guidance would be deeply appreciated. — EDMONTON

DEAR EDMONTON: According to formal procedure, the groom's parents are supposed to write to you. However, I feel strongly that a warm-hearted expression of friendship takes precedence over any rule of etiquette.

By all means write to the young man's parents and simply tell them how much you appreciate their kindness to your daughter. And don't forget to let them know you think their son is "a fine young fellow."

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Commissioner Gives Views On Bond Issue

Although the Mayor and Council Monday endorsed a $500,000 bond issue as the city's share of a proposed Memorial Hospital modernization program, Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill said yesterday "Let me go on record now as saying that I will continue to support this bond issue only if all the taxpayers, city and county, share the load on an equal basis."

The hospital Board of Governors had asked that Allegany County endorse $500,000 in bonds and the City of Cumberland a like amount. This was necessary so that the hospital could apply for federal aid on the project in the amount of $555,701. The remainder of the $1,667,104 for the improvement, $111,403, would come from the Hospital Reserve Fund.

Hill voted for the endorsement of the issue Monday in a 4-1 council action which saw Water Commissioner G. Ray Light oppose. His reasons were basically the same as those cited by Hill yesterday.

Hill said "The all-important question that arises from this situation is who and how are we to pay for this bond issue?

"As I understand it, the county tax rate (debt service) will increase approximately two cents and the city debt service four cents.

"Therefore, we in the city are paying a total of six cents and the county residents a total of two cents. On the surface, this method of repayment does not seem reasonable to the already heavy burden that the city resident has. But looking on into the future, it does seem reasonable and necessary that we have a hospital that meets the standards of a fully-accredited hospital.

"So, weighing the inequity of the financing as opposed to the immediate needs of the hospital, I endorsed the sale by the city of the bond issue."

The finance commissioner continued that he had "some reservation and misgivings" in endorsing the bond issue.

"To qualify this latter statement, it is my intention to insist that a meeting with the Allegany County commissioners be set up and that every effort be exhausted to work out a method so that the true per dollar amount can be equally-shared between the residents of the county and the residents of the city. That is, relieve the city taxpayer of paying the additional assessment levied by the county and therefore paying only the city assessment. This, of course, may not be the best solution and I offer it only as an example," Hill said.

Then he added: "It would seem to me that we must all share equally in the maintaining of the hospital and certainly no fair-minded person cannot help but agree."

The call for a meeting with the County Commissioners was the one reservation which council added to its vote Monday. Mayor Earl D. Chaney said he will try to arrange the meeting in the near future.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, — Edgar Allan Poe has done very well with James H. Nicholson and Samuel Z. Aarkoff, heads of American-International pictures. Too bad Poe isn't around to enjoy some of the glory. This company has come off so well with Poe's famed terror tales they are going to film 10 more during the next five years. Vincent Price is set to top star in every one.

"The Raven" is now being completed - and I wondered which other of Poe's works are left to be filmed.

"The Masque Of The Red Death" will be started in April, and others include "The Haunted Palace," "Murders In The Rue Morgue," "The Gold Bug," "A Descent Into The Maelstrom" and others. $750,000 to $1,000,000 will be spent on each one of the hair raising epics.

Now it's Ingrid Bergman going into the independent field. She and her husband Lars Schmidt are going to make a movie as yet untitled. It's said to be an adventure yarn filled with international intrigue and spy work, and will be filmed in Turkey and Greece.

Now in Paris, Ingrid and Lars leave soon for Istanbul and Athens to pick up suitable sites for the location shots.

This is one reason she isn't upset that Darryl Zanuck cancelled the film she was going to make for 20th Century-Fox.

If our first lady, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, can take Americans on a TV tour of the White House, certainly Princess Grace of Monaco should be able to take Europeans on a personally conducted tour of the palace, the casino and countryside of Monaco without her subjects kicking up a fuss. They did, you know, when Grace planned to make a film for Alfred Hitchcock - and she bowed out.

But just as Jackie Kennedy did, Princess Grace will serve as commentator and guide for the CBS documentary - and it shouldn't take too much explaining to her people to give them the idea that such a show will attract many tourists to Monaco.

Last Thursday Elena Eden, (the girl from Tel - Aviv who came here for "The Story of Ruth"), changed her name to Elena Aloni, because on that day she became the bride of Nissim Aloni in Tel-Aviv.

Elena's bridegroom-to-be is a playwright and since he understands her profession she will resume her acting career. Her marriage will also relieve her of army duty in Israel.

Fess Parker, who is launching his new TV series "Mr. Smith Goes To Washington," and his wife Marcie, are expecting their second baby in April.

Jack Lemmon was so happy over becoming an uncle that five minutes after midnight, when the baby was born, he composed a song in honor of the new arrival-a seven pound nine ounce baby boy born to Felicia Farr's sister Pat. The baby will be named Christopher, after Jack's small son.

Kate Manx returned over the weekend from Charlotte, North Carolina, where the movie "Hero's Island" in which she stars with James Mason was premiered - in time to review her new TV series "Stoney Burke" with Jack Lord on ABC Monday night. Kate is married to Leslie Stevens, and easy on the eyes.

Thelma Ritter, who always adds sparkle to any cast, has joined Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward for "Samantha" at Paramount.

Lorenzo Lamas, 4½, arrived in town from Rome after spending the summer with his father Fernando, in time to start school, which didn't suit him too well.

The reason there was so much talking at that table at the Villa Capri with Sebastian Cabot, Pat O'Brien, Connie Ford and Mickey Manners was because they were being interviewed by Walter O'Keefe for his radio broadcast.

Board Opposes Changing Of College Name

Upon motion of Commissioner John T. Mason, the Allegany County Board of Commissioners unanimously agreed yesterday to write the State Board of Education not to change the name of Frostburg State Teachers College.

Mason said that the name is synonymous with Frostburg and the community had provided the original plot of land for the school. Mason said that the name Frostburg should be a part of the name if any change were made.

The attorney to the board was instructed to prepare the letter to the state education officials.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	3 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♣

Sometimes the most dramatic plays can be demonstrated to depend on a very simple homespun line of reasoning. Consider what an opportunity East passed up in today's hand.

The bidding was completely routine and West made the natural opening lead of the king of clubs. Declarer played the deuce from dummy, permitting his opponent to hold the trick as East followed with the ten. The queen of clubs was continued. The ace was played from the dummy, and East took this opportunity to discard the deuce of hearts.

The jack of diamonds was led and East put up the king which held the trick, as South folfowed with the trey. A heart was returned and won in the closed hand with the jack. The ace of diamonds was led next and, when West's queen fell, declarer was in position to claim 10 tricks.

This appeared to be a perfectly normal result, but East had actually missed a golden opportunity to excel. If East had chosen to discard the king of diamonds at trick two, when his partner led the second round of clubs, there would be no way for declarer to fulfill his contract, since West couldn't be prevented from obtaining the lead with the queen of diamonds to run his clubs.

At first blush this unblocking maneuver may savor of double-dummy analysis, but unloading the king of diamonds is actually an entirely logical play. Since East is looking at 16 points in his hand and the dummy, and West is presumably marked with six points in the club suit, he can have no more than two points on the side if declarer's opening no trump bid is to be relied on. Unless West has the queen of diamonds, therefore, East might just as well abandon hope. If that queen of diamonds is guarded twice it will stand up on its own merits. But if it is only singly protected, then East must dispose of his king of diamonds in order to develop a sure entry for his partner. The risk is slight, for the most that his play can give declarer is an overtrick.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You've helped others. I hope you can help me. My husband has gotten into a habit of plopping down on the sofa after supper to watch TV. He usually drinks about five or six cans of beer and falls asleep. When I get ready for bed I can't budge him. He weighs 220 pounds and you might as well try to move an elephant. I've tried to wake him up but he's a terribly mean sleeper and he hits and kicks me.

In the morning when he wakes up and discovers he's in the living room he gets raving mad. He says his back aches because the sofa is lumpy and his feet hurt because he falls asleep with his shoes on.

When I tell him I tried to wake him up and get him to go to bed he doesn't believe me. I need help and I hope you can suggest something. — JESSIE

DEAR JESSIE: Your husband is not exactly falling asleep. Passing out is more like it. You can't wake him up because he's in an alcoholic stupor.

If you could persuade him to cut down on the beer your other problem would be solved. In the meantime, get the sofa upholstered and take his shoes off.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 14-year-old girl who feels she is being taken advantage of. In July my aunt and uncle moved to this city from another town. They have four children. The oldest is eight years of age and the baby is two.

At first I was happy to help out because my Aunt had a lot to do getting settled. I washed and fed the kids, the baby-sat with them during the day. I also sat evenings. I had to pass up going swimming and to the movies with my friends but I didn't complain because I knew I was needed.

Now my aunt expects me to be a nursemaid and a free sitter all the time. She doesn't even ask me. She tells my mother and I am ordered to go over there.

My mother says blood is thicker than water and I should not expect pay for helping relatives. I don't agree. If you say my mother is right I will stop complaining. Thank you. — NATALIE

DEAR NATALIE: I do not feel that your mother is right and I'm not going to say she's right just because she's your mother.

Now that your aunt is settled, if she wants you to wash, feed or sit with her children she should pay you as she would pay any other sitter. I don't buy the theory that a blood relationship gives people the right to take advantage of one another.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My daughter recently married a fine young fellow who lives in an eastern city. She has gone there to live. The marriage was an elopement and I've never met the young man's parents.

They have received my daughter most graciously and from her glowing letters they must be wonderful people. Would it be proper for me to write to them? I would like to but I don't know how to phrase a letter. Your guidance would be deeply appreciated. — EDMONTON

DEAR EDMONTON: According to formal procedure, the groom's parents are supposed to write to you. However, I feel strongly that a warm-hearted expression of friendship takes precedence over any rule of etiquette.

By all means write to the young man's parents and simply tell them how much you appreciate their kindness to your daughter. And don't forget to let them know you think their son is "a fine young fellow."

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Commissioner Gives Views On Bond Issue

Although the Mayor and Council Monday endorsed a $500,000 bond issue as the city's share of a proposed Memorial Hospital modernization program, Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill said yesterday "Let me go on record now as saying that I will continue to support this bond issue only if all the taxpayers, city and county, share the load on an equal basis."

The hospital Board of Governors had asked that Allegany County endorse $500,000 in bonds and the City of Cumberland a like amount. This was necessary so that the hospital could apply for federal aid on the project in the amount of $555,701. The remainder of the $1,667,104 for the improvement, $111,403, would come from the Hospital Reserve Fund.

Hill voted for the endorsement of the issue Monday in a 4-1 council action which saw Water Commissioner G. Ray Light oppose. His reasons were basically the same as those cited by Hill yesterday.

Hill said "The all-important question that arises from this situation is who and how are we to pay for this bond issue?

"As I understand it, the county tax rate (debt service) will increase approximately two cents and the city debt service four cents.

"Therefore, we in the city are paying a total of six cents and the county residents a total of two cents. On the surface, this method of repayment does not seem reasonable to the already heavy burden that the city resident has. But looking on into the future, it does seem reasonable and necessary that we have a hospital that meets the standards of a fully-accredited hospital.

"So, weighing the inequity of the financing as opposed to the immediate needs of the hospital, I endorsed the sale by the city of the bond issue."

The finance commissioner continued that he had "some reservation and misgivings" in endorsing the bond issue.

"To qualify this latter statement, it is my intention to insist that a meeting with the Allegany County commissioners be set up and that every effort be exhausted to work out a method so that the true per dollar amount can be equally-shared between the residents of the county and the residents of the city. That is, relieve the city taxpayer of paying the additional assessment levied by the county and therefore paying only the city assessment. This, of course, may not be the best solution and I offer it only as an example," Hill said.

Then he added: "It would seem to me that we must all share equally in the maintaining of the hospital and certainly no fair-minded person cannot help but agree."

The call for a meeting with the County Commissioners was the one reservation which council added to its vote Monday. Mayor Earl D. Chaney said he will try to arrange the meeting in the near future.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, — Edgar Allan Poe has done very well with James H. Nicholson and Samuel Z. Aarkoff, heads of American-International pictures. Too bad Poe isn't around to enjoy some of the glory. This company has come off so well with Poe's famed terror tales they are going to film 10 more during the next five years. Vincent Price is set to top star in every one.

"The Raven" is now being completed - and I wondered which other of Poe's works are left to be filmed.

"The Masque Of The Red Death" will be started in April, and others include "The Haunted Palace," "Murders In The Rue Morgue," "The Gold Bug," "A Descent Into The Maelstrom" and others. $750,000 to $1,000,000 will be spent on each one of the hair raising epics.

Now it's Ingrid Bergman going into the independent field. She and her husband Lars Schmidt are going to make a movie as yet untitled. It's said to be an adventure yarn filled with international intrigue and spy work, and will be filmed in Turkey and Greece.

Now in Paris, Ingrid and Lars leave soon for Istanbul and Athens to pick up suitable sites for the location shots.

This is one reason she isn't upset that Darryl Zanuck cancelled the film she was going to make for 20th Century-Fox.

If our first lady, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, can take Americans on a TV tour of the White House, certainly Princess Grace of Monaco should be able to take Europeans on a personally conducted tour of the palace, the casino and countryside of Monaco without her subjects kicking up a fuss. They did, you know, when Grace planned to make a film for Alfred Hitchcock - and she bowed out.

But just as Jackie Kennedy did, Princess Grace will serve as commentator and guide for the CBS documentary - and it shouldn't take too much explaining to her people to give them the idea that such a show will attract many tourists to Monaco.

Last Thursday Elena Eden, (the girl from Tel - Aviv who came here for "The Story of Ruth"), changed her name to Elena Aloni, because on that day she became the bride of Nissim Aloni in Tel-Aviv.

Jack Lemmon was so happy over becoming an uncle that five minutes after midnight, when the baby was born, he composed a song in honor of the new arrival-a seven pound nine ounce baby boy born to Felicia Farr's sister Pat. The baby will be named Christopher, after Jack's small son.

Kate Manx returned over the weekend from Charlotte, North Carolina, where the movie "Hero's Island" in which she stars with James Mason was premiered - in time to review her new TV series "Stoney Burke" with Jack Lord on ABC Monday night. Kate is married to Leslie Stevens, and easy on the eyes.

Lee Barnett Resigns From Zoning Board

Lee C. Barnett today submitted his resignation as a member of the LaVale Zoning Board, effective October 1.

Barnett in his letter stated he had served three years on the board but that press of other duties required him to give up the post.

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners received the letter of resignation and upon recommendation of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association, the board named John L. Conway, 1249 Braddock Road, as successor to Barnett.

Overcrowding And Inadequacies Of Memorial Hospital Are Cited

"On a temporary basis overcrowding and inadequacies can be tolerated, but in your case the situation has gone beyond the point where it can be considered temporary."

That was one comment of H. G. Fritz, chief of the Division of Hospital Services, State Department of Health, upon learning that Memorial Hospital is undertaking a program of remodeling, renovation and expansion to remedy the problem of overcrowding.

Memorial Hospital has the highest per cent of occupancy of any hospital in Maryland. The hospital is operating with 254 beds, while only licensed to have 232 beds.

The modernization and expansion will provide for 262 beds, without the present situation that finds beds in corridors, or more in a room than originally planned.

The remedial program calls for complete modernization of the east wing of the hospital, plus the construction of a new four-story north wing facing Ridgewood Avenue, and a two-story auxiliary building to the east wing.

The project will call for the expenditure of $1,667,104, of which $555,701 will come from federal construction aid through Hill-Burton Act funds; $500,000 each in bonds from the City of Cumberland and Allegany County. The hospital will add $111,403 from its reserve funds.

Support of the project has been voted by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners and the Mayor and City Council.

Fritz's observations to John A. Moberly, superintendent of Memorial Hospital, upon learning of the project, bears much insight on the problems facing the hospital staff and its board of governors.

The state official pointed out that because of the large population served and the confidence of the public in the hospital demonstrated by their use of it in spite of its limitations, its facilities have been taxed.

The placement of patients in beds in corridors which has persisted for some time is not fair to the patients who occupy the beds, or to the personnel who serve them.

The lack of storage space for costly materials can result in losses by theft, damage, and inefficiency in administration, he said.

"The location of your operating rooms, causing a barrier to traffic between nursing areas, is costly in time of personnel in bypassing the surgical suite. There is the question of whether in haste a hazard is created by personnel taking a short cut through the operating area," Fritz declared.

"A hospital is a vital organization and can properly be compared to a living human being. If the torso grows without proportionate growth of legs, arms and brain, the body cannot function properly. Likewise, if the patient load increases and there is not a proportionate growth of ancillary facilities such as operating rooms, delivery rooms, laboratories, dietry, X-ray and traffic and storage areas, the hospital cannot function properly."

Fritz observed that the normal capacity of Memorial Hospital is 232 beds, and the actual number of beds in use is 254. Through the years, beds have been added in such places as enclosed sun porches, but ancillary facilities have not been proportionately increased.

The importance of Memorial Hospital, geographically, is another point to be considered. Because of its comparative isolation in the tri-state mountainous section of Western Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the hospital must maintain a situation of self-sufficiency because there are no other nearby medical centers to which the community can turn.

The State Department of Health has offered all its services in assisting the hospital board of governors gain its objectives.

The remedial program will provide for a complete modernization of the east wing, where the present obstetrics, surgical and other important facilities are located.

The new north wing will have a ground floor for storage, medical library and doctors' quarters; a second floor for a new pediatrics department; a third floor for a new operating room, and the fourth floor for a new maternity room.

Work in the east wing where surgical and obstetrics departments are now located will provide additional rooms for patients.

One other structure in the program would be a two-story building north of the dining area. The ground floor would provide additional storage facilities and also improved employe facilities. The first floor would consolidate and enlarge the hospital dining rooms.

Buying Cited At Hospital

Mike Dusic, a local wholesale produce dealer, appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to voice a complaint against Memorial Hospital.

Dusic said that he has been unable to obtain any business from the hospital but that the majority of the produce bought by the institution is from a Uniontown firm. He said that he is a city and county taxpayer and should get at least some of the business.

Commissioner John J. Rowan, who is a member of the board of governors at the hospital, said he had brought the matter up at a recent meeting but was informed the purchases were left up to the hospital dietician.

Commissioner John Tucker Mason said he also had been informed by hospital authorities that this was the system in use in buying produce. Dusic said that local bakeries take turn about in supplying products to the hospital.

Dusic said that with city and county taxpayers being involved in proposed bond issues for expansion and improvement of the hospital that local businesses should be given some of the business of the institution.

Dusic also said he had asked Mayor Earl D. Chaney for assistance in obtaining some of the produce business of the hospital.

Lee Barnett Resigns From Zoning Board

Lee C. Barnett today submitted his resignation as a member of the LaVale Zoning Board, effective October 1.

Barnett in his letter stated he had served three years on the board but that press of other duties required him to give up the post.

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners received the letter of resignation and upon recommendation of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association, the board named John L. Conway, 1249 Braddock Road, as successor to Barnett.

Overcrowding And Inadequacies Of Memorial Hospital Are Cited

"On a temporary basis overcrowding and inadequacies can be tolerated, but in your case the situation has gone beyond the point where it can be considered temporary."

That was one comment of H. G. Fritz, chief of the Division of Hospital Services, State Department of Health, upon learning that Memorial Hospital is undertaking a program of remodeling, renovation and expansion to remedy the problem of overcrowding.

Memorial Hospital has the highest per cent of occupancy of any hospital in Maryland. The hospital is operating with 254 beds, while only licensed to have 232 beds.

The modernization and expansion will provide for 262 beds, without the present situation that finds beds in corridors, or more in a room than originally planned.

The remedial program calls for complete modernization of the east wing of the hospital, plus the construction of a new four-story north wing facing Ridgewood Avenue, and a two-story auxiliary building to the east wing.

The project will call for the expenditure of $1,667,104, of which $555,701 will come from federal construction aid through Hill-Burton Act funds; $500,000 each in bonds from the City of Cumberland and Allegany County. The hospital will add $111,403 from its reserve funds.

Support of the project has been voted by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners and the Mayor and City Council.

Fritz's observations to John A. Moberly, superintendent of Memorial Hospital, upon learning of the project, bears much insight on the problems facing the hospital staff and its board of governors.

The state official pointed out that because of the large population served and the confidence of the public in the hospital demonstrated by their use of it in spite of its limitations, its facilities have been taxed.

The placement of patients in beds in corridors which has persisted for some time is not fair to the patients who occupy the beds, or to the personnel who serve them.

The lack of storage space for costly materials can result in losses by theft, damage, and inefficiency in administration, he said.

"The location of your operating rooms, causing a barrier to traffic between nursing areas, is costly in time of personnel in bypassing the surgical suite. There is the question of whether in haste a hazard is created by personnel taking a short cut through the operating area," Fritz declared.

"A hospital is a vital organization and can properly be compared to a living human being. If the torso grows without proportionate growth of legs, arms and brain, the body cannot function properly. Likewise, if the patient load increases and there is not a proportionate growth of ancillary facilities such as operating rooms, delivery rooms, laboratories, dietry, X-ray and traffic and storage areas, the hospital cannot function properly."

Fritz observed that the normal capacity of Memorial Hospital is 232 beds, and the actual number of beds in use is 254. Through the years, beds have been added in such places as enclosed sun porches, but ancillary facilities have not been proportionately increased.

The importance of Memorial Hospital, geographically, is another point to be considered. Because of its comparative isolation in the tri-state mountainous section of Western Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the hospital must maintain a situation of self-sufficiency because there are no other nearby medical centers to which the community can turn.

The State Department of Health has offered all its services in assisting the hospital board of governors gain its objectives.

The remedial program will provide for a complete modernization of the east wing, where the present obstetrics, surgical and other important facilities are located.

The new north wing will have a ground floor for storage, medical library and doctors' quarters; a second floor for a new pediatrics department; a third floor for a new operating room, and the fourth floor for a new maternity room.

Work in the east wing where surgical and obstetrics departments are now located will provide additional rooms for patients.

One other structure in the program would be a two-story building north of the dining area. The ground floor would provide additional storage facilities and also improved employe facilities. The first floor would consolidate and enlarge the hospital dining rooms.

Buying Cited At Hospital

Mike Dusic, a local wholesale produce dealer, appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to voice a complaint against Memorial Hospital.

Dusic said that he has been unable to obtain any business from the hospital but that the majority of the produce bought by the institution is from a Uniontown firm. He said that he is a city and county taxpayer and should get at least some of the business.

Commissioner John J. Rowan, who is a member of the board of governors at the hospital, said he had brought the matter up at a recent meeting but was informed the purchases were left up to the hospital dietician.

Commissioner John Tucker Mason said he also had been informed by hospital authorities that this was the system in use in buying produce. Dusic said that local bakeries take turn about in supplying products to the hospital.

Dusic said that with city and county taxpayers being involved in proposed bond issues for expansion and improvement of the hospital that local businesses should be given some of the business of the institution.

Dusic also said he had asked Mayor Earl D. Chaney for assistance in obtaining some of the produce business of the hospital.

Group Protests Proposed Site Of City Dump

A discussion was held yesterday at the meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners with three residents of an area near a proposed garbage dump for the town of Frostburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Morton and Raymond Connors appeared before the board to acquaint the commissioners with a situation which they say threatens their water supply if the dump proposal goes through.

The site of the proposed dump is on Big Savage Mountain on a road leading off U. S. Route 40 near Billy Goat Inn, the commissioners were informed. They said there are 27 families who live in the area whose water supply would be affected by possible pollution from the dump.

The trio said they had contacted the Garrett County Board of Commissioners in the matter after they were informed the dump site was in Garrett County. The Garrett board has written the Mayor and Council of Frostburg to stop any further preparation work at the site until certain procedures are completed.

The protestants said they were aware that Frostburg needs a new dump site but that the one chosen poses a hazard to their water supply. Commissioner John J. Rowan said he would contact the county health officer and other officials to see if the matter could be solved.

Family Memberships Continued By YMCA

In accord with contemporary views in family participation in YMCA activities expressed by the National Council of YMCAs this year, Central YMCA will offer a specially designed family membership to interested families.

Benjamin Haines, YMCA program director, said family membership is designed with two objectives in mind, to provide an economical membership that benefits the larger family, and to encourage the family to participate in the YMCA program as a unit.

YMCA programming is directing its efforts toward offering a wider variety of opportunities for the family to participate together in activities at the YMCA.

Each Thursday evening there is a family swim, and plans are being made to include more of the family in other social and recreational programs.

Do You Suffer From Sick, Throbbing Migraine Headaches?

New Medical Discovery Never Before Available
Now Released To Public. No Prescription Needed.

Today, science has announced a doctor's new formula which has been especially developed to relieve both the throbbing pain and sickish feeling of migraine-type headaches. Tests conducted by a practicing New York physician showed that in patient after patient—pain-relief and comfort were obtained in minutes. And all without the use of narcotics, codeine or ergot remedies which may upset the stomach and so further aggravate the condition.

This remarkable new formula is called Duplexin®. It is the first headache discovery in the history of medicine with this exclusive formula, (a unique 2-layer pink and white tablet). It relieves both headache pain and a sick, upset stomach with this exclusive formula.

Here are the medical facts why Duplexin is safer, faster, more effective—why it's unlike the usual headache remedies. Only Duplexin unites powerful doctor-approved pain relievers with this special stomach-soothing antacid. In seconds, Duplexin does what no aspirin or buffered aspirin can ever do. It contains exclusive, hospital-tested medications not found in any alkalizer or seltzer. Duplexin's white layer concentrates on relieving pain faster. Throbbing pain relieved in minutes. Its pink layer relieves that sickish feeling and protects your stomach as it keeps on speeding relief.

Duplexin also calms nervous stress (which so often causes migraine) and helps relieve depression. Taken at the first sign of an attack, Duplexin actually helps prevent those migraine pains. Ask for Duplexin Tablets at any drugstore. Now available without prescription.

The Misunderstood Small Businessman

Two Columbia University scientists have reported to the American Sociological Association that the American small businessman really isn't the epitome of ambition, hard work and independence he is given credit for. More often than not, they aver, he drifted into his work because he disliked constant supervision and has a general aversion to the conformity and sameness of most corporate jobs.

These scientists are not the first to criticize the small businessman. Others, particularly economists of the Keats school, have belittled the role played by the small businessman in modern society. But is the independent merchant, the proprietor of a one-office business, the man who depends upon his own hands for success or failure of an enterprise, deserving of the criticism of the Columbia researchers?

How can it be said of anyone who forsakes the relative security of a steady paycheck for the hazardous income of a small business, that he is without ambition? Is this something no longr found outside corporate ambition, wherein men are frequently called upon to suppress their likes and dislikes and associate with fellow workers whose company they may abhor?

Can the desire to remain independent, to maintain at least some control over all facets of employment, be called "drifting?" As to the efficiency of small business units as opposed to corporate structure, the continued presence of small businesses and predominance of them in areas of service is proof of their success.

Accurate analysis of the small businessman will show he contributes much more to a free society than he takes. It might even be said that he is the weathervane of social change indicating whether the individual's freedom is progressing or regressing.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Allies And Neutrals

It has been American foreign policy since the end of World War II to show preference to neutrals over our Allies. We have even preferred former enemies such as the Germans and the Japanese to our Allies.

This policy arises from a doctrinaire concept of the equality of man, the equality of nations, the self-determination of peoples. It did not originate with Franklin D. Roosevelt; it is the basis of the Declaration of Independence.

It is this policy which destroyed the British, French and Dutch Empires. India became independent and neutral; French Indo-China was cut up into two Viet-Nams, Laos and Cambodia and is either part of the Soviet bloc or neutral; the Dutch East Indies became Indonesia under the leadership of Sukarno who is allied to Soviet Russia; France lost Algeria, and many African countries, like the Congo, became independent. Actually, much of the world was thrown into a chaos by premature independence. Those who favor this trend ask, when is not independence premature?

The principal sufferers from this American doctrine were not the enemy, Soviet Russia, or our foes in World War II, Germany and Japan, but our principal allies, Great Britain, France and Holland. Meanwhile, Soviet Russia has been Empire-building in Asia, Europe and the Caribbean.

In a word, up to now, this policy has been a failure. Nevertheless, the United States will continue to pursue it on the assumption that the future of the world lies with the Afro-Asian nations. The Castro Revolution in Cuba must have some effect on our policy. President Kennedy himself declared it to be Communist since 1958 although the State Department issued a fictitious White Paper in 1961 denying its Communist character.

The European nations have countered our policy by the organization of the Common Market which may develop into a United Western Europe of perhaps 200,000,000 people. The growth of the Common Market and the Franco-German Alliance may alter the politicos of the world, producing a Third Power that could offset the eleemosynary politics of the United States and the Empire building of Soviet Russia.

Much of Africa is still French-speaking. France has never adopted a racial attitude, adhering to the slogan of the French Revolution, namely Liberty, Equality, Fraternity. The French do not resist intermarriage, and although many of the new nations of Africa were once French colonies, they naturally look to France for their culture and trade. Similarly, although in many colonies, there has been opposition to British manners and attitudes, English remains the lingua franca of those peoples.

As the Common Market develops politically, it will seek strength in the former colonies and although it may fail in some, it will make enormous progress in others. West Germany has a thriving export trade throughout the world.

The principal factors against the United States are first, high prices for our goods which make them unacceptable, in many instances, even for the countries we assist and secondly, the racial conflict within the United States. Prices in the United States are affected by the high cost of labor and high taxes. While all these costs are matters of domestic determination, basic prices are fixed internationally. Thus, as the Common Market grows, we shall find it increasingly difficult to hold that 7 to 10 percent of our economy from foreign trade.

As to the racial question, it is not something that can be handled by an ukaze from the Federal Government. Much American history has gone into the racial question and while some progress has been made in improving racial relations, it has been slow.

But it is much more complex than either the American Negro or the racist in the South and West is willing to admit. The dilemma is that if the Federal Government intervenes too violently in this situation, States Rights will be violated beyond repair. On the other hand, if the racial conflict continues, it means that the Afro-Asian nations, which we brought into existence, will be our permanent opponents and will support the Russian position.

This dilemma is not readily resolved because supporting the racist position is three centuries of American history; supporting the Afro-Asian position is a long history of declarations on equality beginning perhaps with the Declaration of Independence, continuing through Wilson's Fourteen Points, running through the Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy Administrations.

About Time We Get Ambidextrous

Rep. Powell Sets Absentee Record: Answers Only 61 Of 224 Roll Calls

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, the hectic Harlem globetrotter, is not satisfied with setting the most spectacular record for Congressional junkets. In addition, he is on the way to becoming the No. 1 absentee Congressman.

As of this writing there have been 224 roll calls on quorums and legislative bills in the House of Representatives. Powell has answered only 61. He has been absent 163 times, more than twice as often as he has been present.

Part of the time the dapper Congressman from Harlem was on his recent night-club tour of Europe with two attractive lady members of his staff to study "equal opportunities for women." But after hastily flying home, he has been "resting" in Puerto Rico, apparently placating his wife.

During the very important debate over college aid he was not present, though he is chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee. This bill has now been defeated in the House.

Another Blocked Bill

Meanwhile another bill, for aid to the impacted school areas, has been held up because of too many absentees in committee—most of them Republican, one of them Powell.

An impacted areas bill was passed last year after the regular Kennedy aid to public schools bill was defeated by a combination of Cardinal Spellman of New York, who demanded aid for parochial schools, and southern Democrats who didn't want any general aid at all.

Rep. William Colmer of Pascagoula, Miss., who helped block a vote on the education bill by bottling it up inside the Rules Committee, later turned round and voted for school aid for the impacted areas. The principle of federal aid is just the same in both bills, but the impacted area bill gave $1,245,000 to Colmer's Pascagoula district, because Keesler Air Force Base is located there. It also helped other rural areas, but not the big cities.

So Rep. James O'Hara, D., Mich., introduced a bill this year giving $25,000,000 to the cities. However, to get the bill out of the Education Committee, of which Powell is chairman, a quorum of the committee is necessary, and the Republicans, plus Powell, will not turn up to vote.

Rep. Cleveland Bailey, D., W. Va., acting chairman in Powell's absence, has tried repeatedly to get a quorum. But the Republicans, simply by staying away, have killed the bill in committee.

Another Junket

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, the Congressman from Harlem, is not the only Congressman who likes to junket. It's just leaked out that Sen. Frank Moss, the Utah Democrat, organized a quickie flight for himself in a plush Air Force plane over the Labor Day week end.

Allegedly, the trip was to inspect the Ballistic Missile Early Warning System, but why the Utah Senator, who is a member of the Public Works Committee, should have a special aptitude for the ballistic warning system remains a mystery.

At any rate, he arranged for his plane through a letter from the Public Works Committee to the Defense Department, and the Air Force promptly supplied one of its more luxurious C-121s for the tour equipped with desks and berths. It also sent along two escort officers, Col. William F. Pitts and Col. Bruce Arnold.

Only one Senator was aboard, Moss, together with William Foster, assistant to Sen. Willis Robertson, D., Va.; Carter Bradley, chief clerk of the Senate Space Committee; Stewart French, Republican assistant of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness Committee, and some other staff personnel.

The flight left Washington August 1, stopped in Thule, Greenland, then Prestwick, Scotland, where the Senator had a visit with his son who drove down from Aberdeen, then ended up in London.

The Senator and party got briefed at Third Air Force Headquarters just outside of London and also had a tour of the British House of Commons, conducted by a lady MP.

Busy Weatherman

Regardless of the crisis in Cuba or tension in Berlin or society gossip over Jackie Kennedy's new and prolonged vacation in Newport, the biggest story continues to be the weather.

Records of the Weather Bureau show that there are more single inquiries about the weather than about any other single subject during the day. In Washington, the regular Weather Bureau answering service, WE 6-1212, gets 75,000 calls daily.

Similar calls come into the Weather Bureau's answering service in every city in volumes depending on the population. In addition, individual citizens call the Weather Bureau direct for long-range forecasts in such great number that the switchboard in Washington is usually jammed.

Dr. Francis Reichelderfer, dedicated chief of the Weather Bureau, has tried putting on extra personnel to answer calls, but the more he puts on, the more the public make use of the service. So the switchboard continues to be clogged.

Asked what the weatherman's percentage of accuracy now is, Dr. Reichelderfer replied: "About 85 per cent. Over a 36-hour period we manage to hit it eight or nine times out of ten."

"But the public usually forgets about the times when you're right," I suggested.

"We don't mind the criticism," replied the top weatherman. "We are glad to give the public some griping relief. They can jump on us instead of other people."

A Memo On South Viet Nam For Otto Passman

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

A couple of months earlier, that part of the province of Vinh Binh, in South Viet Nam, could not be safely entered by less than a company of troops. Now the wiry little province chief, Maj. Thao, had no more than his two regular bodyguards on the back seat of the jeep.

This part of Vinh Binh had been liberated from the Communists, in the most literal sense, by the new system of "strategic hamlets," of which Maj. Thao was a passionate advocate. At the first hamlet the Major chose to show, the elders had been warned. The hamlet militia — young men in loose black peasant clothes, two or three with ancient carbines, the rest armed with jungle knives —were drawn up in proud battle array. Everyone else had also turned out to greet the Major more informally, for he was an old friend.

The militia captain proudly described the previous night's patrol. For the first time in weeks, two Communist guerrillas had tried to come in among the houses, to extort money, to obtain intelligence, and to levy the Communist rice tax. The place where they had attempted to penetrate the hamlet's surrounding barricade was shown. You could see where they had begun to push aside the rather flimsy barrier, mainly constructed of thorny-bamboo. Here the patrolling militia had caught them and driven them away.

"That's the way it works," said Maj. Thao. "In the hamlets, the people are protected from the Communists, and the Communists are barred off from the people. Once that happens over a considerable area, the Communist guerrillas have to retreat from that area. But everything is lacking—everything from carbines for the hamlet militia to wood for the schoolhouses we need to build in each hamlet. Otherwise we could do so much more.

"We sure could," said Capt. Savage, the remarkable young American officer who had been working and fighting alongside of Maj. Thao for four months. "You wouldn't think that thing" (pointing to the frail barricade) "could work wonders. But it does work wonders; I know, because I've seen it. We've taken one-third of the province from the Communists in the last four months."

Such was the news from Vinh Binh a few months ago, and very encouraging news it was. There is even better news today, which comes from Rufus Phillips, a man who has credentials that command attention. Back in 1954, the late President Magsaysay's American friend and close adviser, Col. Edward Lansdale, was transferred from Manila to Saigon, to join the anti-Communist struggle in Viet Nam. Lansdale, who is one of the unsung heroes of the cold war, then called on a number of young combat-veterans from Korea to join him. Rufus Phillips was one of Lansdale's young recruits, who went out into the villages for months at a time. So he knows Viet Nam well.

On behalf of the Foreign Aid Administration, Phillips has just returned to Viet Nam for a two-month, on-the-spot study of the way the new system of strategic hamlets has been working. In Vinh Binh, he found that the third of the province liberated from the Communists had grown to 90 per cent of the province. Every productive area in Vinh Binh is now denied to them; and the remaining Communist units are hungarily confined to the grim, rice-less mangrove swamps which form one corner of the province.

"When every province is like that," says Phillips, "the war in South Viet Nam will be about won. And every province can be like that, if we just try hard enough."

For that precise reason, Phillips has reluctantly agreed to abandon an extremely prosperous family business; and to go out to Saigon with his wife and children; and to take charge of our foreign aid mission's support for the Vietnamese in the strategic hamlets. Of the foreign aid money allocated to South Viet Nam, Phillips has been promised $40,000,000 for his work—or about one-twelfth of the total amount the U. S. is now annually spending on the war there. In this war, one must also remember, American soldiers are daily in active combat. And if Phillips' program works, this war may just possibly come to an end.

Maybe Rep. Otto Passman and the other members of the House, who have attacked the foreign aid program with a hatchet, ought to have remembered those Americans risking their lives for their country in South Viet Nam. Maybe they ought to have found out a bit more about a few projects like the strategic hamlet program.

Maybe they ought to have talked to some people like Rufus Phillips. Maybe they might even have considered the point that the larger share of foreign aid now goes to Asia, where the cold war, at the moment, is in a state of knife-edge balance.

The foreign aid program has its faults, to be sure, and some of these are very great faults. But Passman's blind, angry use of the hatchet on an essential tool of the cold war is not just a fault. There are less palatable words for this kind of thing, which must please Nikita S. Khrushchev even more than it pleases Rep. Charles Halleck.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

MIDDLE- OF- THE- ROAD — Careful scrutiny of primary election returns in a number of states indicates to Washington political pros that the trend of the electorate is toward middle-of-the-road candidates.

This has shown up in a number of primaries where extreme liberals or extreme conservatives have been roundly defeated by persons standing for moderation in government. This is particularly so insofar as "moderation" is related to domestic matters.

On the matter of foreign policy —Cuba and Berlin—there appears to be more mileage for those candidates who advocate "action," or a "strong approach" to these problems. This has been reflected, particularly among Republican candidates for office, who are searching for a telling anti-Democratic, anti-administration issue.

Politicians are somewhat at a loss, however, to apply this trend to forecasting results of next November's congressional elections. Republicans claim that it will work to their benefit, resulting in increased seats for them in both the Senate and the House. But Democrats claim that the Kennedy administration has an image of "moderation" and that their candidates who run under its banner will fare well.

Both Republicans and Democrats say, privately, that the issue of Cuba will hurt some Democrats. The difference of opinion arises over whether that damage will be sufficiently reflected in the voting to cause, by itself, the defeat of any Democratic candidates.

MABEL: Hello. It's me again. ALICE: I know. MABEL: My husbands says I monotonize the telephone. ALICE: They're all alike. Always complaining. MABEL: I told him the difference between us is I'm a totalitarian—never touch a drop. ALICE: Rollo went bowling Tuesday. He got to the top of the stoop at 2 a.m. and he and the ball went to the bottom.

MABEL: Was he hurt? ALICE: Not my Rollo. But the noise woke the whole neighborhood. Such language. MABEL: How about the ball? ALICE: Who cares? It was like hunting for a needle in a hayride. He finally gave up and went to bed. MABEL: Still cursing? ALICE: What else? It turned out to be my fault.

MABEL: He must have had a nice head in the morning. ALICE: Him? Drinking doesn't do anything to him except make him dopier. Believe it or not, he was up at the crank of dawn looking for that ball. MABEL: Did he find it? ALICE: For $22, he'd seal off the neighborhood. It was in McCarthy's alley across the street.

MABEL: What else is new? ALICE: What could be new? Get up. Get the children off. Clean the pigsty. Make breakfast for his royal highness. Do the shopping. Wait for the kids to come home from school. What can be new? The last time something new happened in this dump, the oil burner broke down. So tell me, what's new with you?

MABEL: Night before last, I went to Luna's coming out debris. It wasn't worth it, really. Just beer and pretzels. ALICE: What was she wearing? MABEL: One of those long orange organdy things. It had a sweetheart neck—remember the sweetheart neck? ALICE: She must have looked a sight. MABEL: The kid would have looked all right, but what can you do with a child who weighed 130 when she was ten? I mean, that's a size, Alice. Then when you put it in orange organdy, it looks like an eyetalian sunset.

ALICE: Rollo wouldn't let me go because he's not speaking to her father. MABEL: Your guy has a memory like a camel. ALICE: That's funny. An elephant you mean. A camel is the one who goes eight days without walking. MABEL: Anyway, I feel sorry for the kid. I remember when they sent her to the hospital with a romantic heart.

ALICE: You sure, honey? I thought it was polaroid. MABEL: No. We had the same doctor. ALICE: You cooking? MABEL: Just a little soup for the kids. They come home for lunch. ALICE: What kind? MABEL: Cream of chicken. I give it to them with cretonnes. ALICE: No cooking for me until tonight. I'm going to spend the afternoon reading. MABEL: You got a good book?

ALICE: Rollo read it. I heard him laughing one night so I'm going to tackle it. MABEL: Lolita? ALICE: No. It's called How to Lip the Trite Fantastic, by Alban Norris. MABEL: How to what the what? ALICE: How to Tripe the Frip Trantastic. I probably have it wrong. Anyway, I'll lend it to you. MABEL: Don't bother. I have enough trying to get time for Louella. That's one woman that really talks turtle.

ALICE: You said it. The real lowdown. MABEL: Want to go to the movies tonight? ALICE: Not me. I have to paint the kitchen tonight. MABEL: What's the matter with Roll? ALICE: You kidding? He can't paint and drink at the same time. I warned him, I said: 'One of these days, Rollo, you're going to get the T. V's'.

MABEL: What did he say? ALICE: Oh, funny, funny. He said: 'Back in the kennel, you'. MABEL: Mine's a riot too. A regular Red Skelton around the house. ALICE: I'm going to do my laughing when the cops provoke Rollo's license. MABEL: They never tell you what it's going to be like before the wedding. ALICE: Never.

MABEL: If they take my Pete's license, he'll have to go to work on a well-boiled icycle. Ha ha. ALICE: A what? MABEL: Sorry, I meant a well-soiled micycle. ALICE: Oh, well, I have to get back to the kitchen. MABEL: Something on the stove? ALICE: I told you I got that new electric one. Well, the dials must be wrong because every time I do a rost, it's done to a fragile.

MABEL: Try fifty degrees lower. ALICE: Someone told me it might be the silver furl I use. MABEL: It can't be, Alice. I use the same as you. After the kids go back, I'm going to have a little snoo for myself. ALICE: No sleep? MABEL: When Pete's got a load on, it's like sleeping in a blender.

ALICE: Ha ha. Well, you know what they say about insomnia. It's just mind over mattress. MABEL: Toodleoo. ALICE: Abyssynia . . .

Importance Of Evaluating Minor Symptoms

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

If we look after the little things of life, the big ones will take care of themselves" is an adage that bears remembering. Most of us recall friends with serious illnesses that originated a long time ago; they paid the penalty for looking upon the early symptoms are trifling.

In fairness to all, we must admit it is difficult to evaluate minor manifestations. Overstressing the situation leads some persons to pay too much attention to inconsequential aches and twinges. Many paths to physicians' offices have become well worn by men and women who look upon every deviation from normal as of vital importance. A more rational approach is the use of common sense and good judgment.

Sore throat, cough, toothache, cuts, fatigue, painful feet, indigestion, and slight bleeding are a few examples of the conditions most of us disregard. There is no doubt that influenza and most respiratory infections disappear spontaneously but these diseases of the nose and throat cause more invalidism and absenteeism than pneumonia, plurisy, asthma, and tuberculosis put together.

The duration of a warning signal is an important consideration. Hoarseness lasting more than three weeks might be a clue to cancer of the larynx. Indigestion of a few days' duration is not likely to be serious but when it persists, the cause should be searched for.

The same can be said of pain in any part of the body. A cough that hangs on should be viewed with suspicion and not blamed on cigaret smoking. Bleeding from any body opening may be caused by cancer.

Many symptoms are more difficult to evaluate, especially when they have an insidious onset. Fatigue and weakness are toughies. Severe depressions and changes in personality never should be neglected.

QUITE AN UNDERTAKING

B. E. L. writes: My son has bad perspiration of the feet. Has to wear different shoes every day and change socks twice a day. Some one told him to get some fluid from the undertaker's and bathe his feet in it. Do you think this would help?

REPLY

Possibly, provided the excessive perspiration is caused by an infection. Formaldehyde is a potent disinfectant but is too irritating to use on the skin unless diluted considerably. Take your son to a physician for diagnosis and a prescription product to reduce sweating.

CHOLESTEROL FEARS

S. F. writes: Can young children thrive without butter, eggs, and margarine? Their mother won't feed them these foods because of her cholesterol fears.

REPLY

Yes, but there is no need to deprive children of these products for the reason given. Some types of margarine are allowable even for older persons with high cholesterol levels in the blood.

SOFTENED BONES

E. F. writes: Is osteoporosis a form of arthritis?

REPLY

No, but it may be as painful as arthritis. Osteoporosis is a disorder in which the bone structure loses calcium and becomes softer than usual. It is one cause of backache in oldsters.

YES, FOR SOME

Mrs. G. writes: Is to easy to go insane?

REPLY

It has been said that everyone has a "breaking point" and some reach this point more quickly than others.

FAMILY STERILITY

A. T. writes: Is it possible for sterility to run in a family?

REPLY

Not for long.

TOMORROW: Learning to talk.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

An itinerant preacher in the Blue Ridge Mountains shook an old reprobate and thundered, "Are you ready for the Judgment Day?" "Mebbe yes, mebbe no," said the old rep cagily. "When's it coming?" It might come this very day," warned the preacher. "Then again, it might come tomorrow."

By this time the old reprobate was registering genuine concern. "Don't tell my old woman," he begged. "She'd want to go both days."

An indignant customer called an electrical supply shop to demand, "What happened to that man you promised to send round to repair my broken doorbell?"

"He went to your house like I promised," answered the electrician, "and he stood there ringing that bell for a full fifteen minutes, but nobody answered, so he came back to the shop. You shouldn't be so inconsiderate in the future!"

A new girl in the check room of a popular nightclub whispered to a veteran employe, "What does it mean when a college student slips you a dollar-tip?" "It means," answered the knowing veteran, "that you have given him the wrong coat."

The Misunderstood Small Businessman

Two Columbia University scientists have reported to the American Sociological Association that the American small businessman really isn't the epitome of ambition, hard work and independence he is given credit for. More often than not, they aver, he drifted into his work because he disliked constant supervision and has a general aversion to the conformity and sameness of most corporate jobs.

These scientists are not the first to criticize the small businessman. Others, particularly economists of the Keats school, have belittled the role played by the small businessman in modern society. But is the independent merchant, the proprietor of a one-office business, the man who depends upon his own hands for success or failure of an enterprise, deserving of the criticism of the Columbia researchers?

How can it be said of anyone who forsakes the relative security of a steady paycheck for the hazardous income of a small business, that he is without ambition? Is this something no longr found outside corporate ambition, wherein men are frequently called upon to suppress their likes and dislikes and associate with fellow workers whose company they may abhor?

Can the desire to remain independent, to maintain at least some control over all facets of employment, be called "drifting?" As to the efficiency of small business units as opposed to corporate structure, the continued presence of small businesses and predominance of them in areas of service is proof of their success.

Accurate analysis of the small businessman will show he contributes much more to a free society than he takes. It might even be said that he is the weathervane of social change indicating whether the individual's freedom is progressing or regressing.

These Days

Allies And Neutrals

It has been American foreign policy since the end of World War II to show preference to neutrals over our Allies. We have even preferred former enemies such as the Germans and the Japanese to our Allies.

This policy arises from a doctrinaire concept of the equality of man, the equality of nations, the self-determination of peoples. It did not originate with Franklin D. Roosevelt; it is the basis of the Declaration of Independence.

It is this policy which destroyed the British, French and Dutch Empires. India became independent and neutral; French Indo-China was cut up into two Viet-Nams, Laos and Cambodia and is either part of the Soviet bloc or neutral; the Dutch East Indies became Indonesia under the leadership of Sukarno who is allied to Soviet Russia; France lost Algeria, and many African countries, like the Congo, became independent. Actually, much of the world was thrown into a chaos by premature independence. Those who favor this trend ask, when is not independence premature?

The principal sufferers from this American doctrine were not the enemy, Soviet Russia, or our foes in World War II, Germany and Japan, but our principal allies, Great Britain, France and Holland. Meanwhile, Soviet Russia has been Empire-building in Asia, Europe and the Caribbean.

In a word, up to now, this policy has been a failure. Nevertheless, the United States will continue to pursue it on the assumption that the future of the world lies with the Afro-Asian nations. The Castro Revolution in Cuba must have some effect on our policy. President Kennedy himself declared it to be Communist since 1958 although the State Department issued a fictitious White Paper in 1961 denying its Communist character.

The European nations have countered our policy by the organization of the Common Market which may develop into a United Western Europe of perhaps 200,000,000 people. The growth of the Common Market and the Franco-German Alliance may alter the politicos of the world, producing a Third Power that could offset the eleemosynary politics of the United States and the Empire building of Soviet Russia.

Much of Africa is still French-speaking. France has never adopted a racial attitude, adhering to the slogan of the French Revolution, namely Liberty, Equality, Fraternity. The French do not resist intermarriage, and although many of the new nations of Africa were once French colonies, they naturally look to France for their culture and trade. Similarly, although in many colonies, there has been opposition to British manners and attitudes, English remains the lingua franca of those peoples.

As the Common Market develops politically, it will seek strength in the former colonies and although it may fail in some, it will make enormous progress in others. West Germany has a thriving export trade throughout the world.

The principal factors against the United States are first, high prices for our goods which make them unacceptable, in many instances, even for the countries we assist and secondly, the racial conflict within the United States. Prices in the United States are affected by the high cost of labor and high taxes. While all these costs are matters of domestic determination, basic prices are fixed internationally. Thus, as the Common Market grows, we shall find it increasingly difficult to hold that 7 to 10 percent of our economy from foreign trade.

As to the racial question, it is not something that can be handled by an ukaze from the Federal Government. Much American history has gone into the racial question and while some progress has been made in improving racial relations, it has been slow.

But it is much more complex than either the American Negro or the racist in the South and West is willing to admit. The dilemma is that if the Federal Government intervenes too violently in this situation, States Rights will be violated beyond repair. On the other hand, if the racial conflict continues, it means that the Afro-Asian nations, which we brought into existence, will be our permanent opponents and will support the Russian position.

This dilemma is not readily resolved because supporting the racist position is three centuries of American history; supporting the Afro-Asian position is a long history of declarations on equality beginning perhaps with the Declaration of Independence, continuing through Wilson's Fourteen Points, running through the Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy Administrations.

Records of the Weather Bureau show that there are more single inquiries about the weather than about any other single subject during the day. In Washington, the regular Weather Bureau answering service, WE 6-1212, gets 75,000 calls daily.

Similar calls come into the Weather Bureau's answering service in every city in volumes depending on the population. In addition, individual citizens call the Weather Bureau direct for long-range forecasts in such great number that the switchboard in Washington is usually jammed.

Dr. Francis Reichelderfer, dedicated chief of the Weather Bureau, has tried putting on extra personnel to answer calls, but the more he puts on, the more the public make use of the service. So the switchboard continues to be clogged.

Asked what the weatherman's percentage of accuracy now is, Dr. Reichelderfer replied: "About 85 per cent. Over a 36-hour period we manage to hit it eight or nine times out of ten."

"But the public usually forgets about the times when you're right," I suggested.

"We don't mind the criticism," replied the top weatherman. "We are glad to give the public some griping relief. They can jump on us instead of other people."

A Memo On South Viet Nam For Otto Passman

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

A couple of months earlier, that part of the province of Vinh Binh, in South Viet Nam, could not be safely entered by less than a company of troops. Now the wiry little province chief, Maj. Thao, had no more than his two regular bodyguards on the back seat of the jeep.

This part of Vinh Binh had been liberated from the Communists, in the most literal sense, by the new system of "strategic hamlets," of which Maj. Thao was a passionate advocate. At the first hamlet the Major chose to show, the elders had been warned. The hamlet militia — young men in loose black peasant clothes, two or three with ancient carbines, the rest armed with jungle knives —were drawn up in proud battle array. Everyone else had also turned out to greet the Major more informally, for he was an old friend.

The militia captain proudly described the previous night's patrol. For the first time in weeks, two Communist guerrillas had tried to come in among the houses, to extort money, to obtain intelligence, and to levy the Communist rice tax. The place where they had attempted to penetrate the hamlet's surrounding barricade was shown. You could see where they had begun to push aside the rather flimsy barrier, mainly constructed of thorny-bamboo. Here the patrolling militia had caught them and driven them away.

"That's the way it works," said Maj. Thao. "In the hamlets, the people are protected from the Communists, and the Communists are barred off from the people. Once that happens over a considerable area, the Communist guerrillas have to retreat from that area. But everything is lacking—everything from carbines for the hamlet militia to wood for the schoolhouses we need to build in each hamlet. Otherwise we could do so much more.

"We sure could," said Capt. Savage, the remarkable young American officer who had been working and fighting alongside of Maj. Thao for four months. "You wouldn't think that thing" (pointing to the frail barricade) "could work wonders. But it does work wonders; I know, because I've seen it. We've taken one-third of the province from the Communists in the last four months."

Such was the news from Vinh Binh a few months ago, and very encouraging news it was. There is even better news today, which comes from Rufus Phillips, a man who has credentials that command attention. Back in 1954, the late President Magsaysay's American friend and close adviser, Col. Edward Lansdale, was transferred from Manila to Saigon, to join the anti-Communist struggle in Viet Nam. Lansdale, who is one of the unsung heroes of the cold war, then called on a number of young combat-veterans from Korea to join him. Rufus Phillips was one of Lansdale's young recruits, who went out into the villages for months at a time. So he knows Viet Nam well.

On behalf of the Foreign Aid Administration, Phillips has just returned to Viet Nam for a two-month, on-the-spot study of the way the new system of strategic hamlets has been working. In Vinh Binh, he found that the third of the province liberated from the Communists had grown to 90 per cent of the province. Every productive area in Vinh Binh is now denied to them; and the remaining Communist units are hungarily confined to the grim, rice-less mangrove swamps which form one corner of the province.

"When every province is like that," says Phillips, "the war in South Viet Nam will be about won. And every province can be like that, if we just try hard enough."

For that precise reason, Phillips has reluctantly agreed to abandon an extremely prosperous family business; and to go out to Saigon with his wife and children; and to take charge of our foreign aid mission's support for the Vietnamese in the strategic hamlets. Of the foreign aid money allocated to South Viet Nam, Phillips has been promised $40,000,000 for his work—or about one-twelfth of the total amount the U. S. is now annually spending on the war there. In this war, one must also remember, American soldiers are daily in active combat. And if Phillips' program works, this war may just possibly come to an end.

Maybe Rep. Otto Passman and the other members of the House, who have attacked the foreign aid program with a hatchet, ought to have remembered those Americans risking their lives for their country in South Viet Nam. Maybe they ought to have found out a bit more about a few projects like the strategic hamlet program.

Maybe they ought to have talked to some people like Rufus Phillips. Maybe they might even have considered the point that the larger share of foreign aid now goes to Asia, where the cold war, at the moment, is in a state of knife-edge balance.

The foreign aid program has its faults, to be sure, and some of these are very great faults. But Passman's blind, angry use of the hatchet on an essential tool of the cold war is not just a fault. There are less palatable words for this kind of thing, which must please Nikita S. Khrushchev even more than it pleases Rep. Charles Halleck.

Inside Washington

MIDDLE- OF- THE- ROAD — Careful scrutiny of primary election returns in a number of states indicates to Washington political pros that the trend of the electorate is toward middle-of-the-road candidates.

This has shown up in a number of primaries where extreme liberals or extreme conservatives have been roundly defeated by persons standing for moderation in government. This is particularly so insofar as "moderation" is related to domestic matters.

On the matter of foreign policy —Cuba and Berlin—there appears to be more mileage for those candidates who advocate "action," or a "strong approach" to these problems. This has been reflected, particularly among Republican candidates for office, who are searching for a telling anti-Democratic, anti-administration issue.

Politicians are somewhat at a loss, however, to apply this trend to forecasting results of next November's congressional elections. Republicans claim that it will work to their benefit, resulting in increased seats for them in both the Senate and the House. But Democrats claim that the Kennedy administration has an image of "moderation" and that their candidates who run under its banner will fare well.

Both Republicans and Democrats say, privately, that the issue of Cuba will hurt some Democrats. The difference of opinion arises over whether that damage will be sufficiently reflected in the voting to cause, by itself, the defeat of any Democratic candidates.

MABEL: Hello. It's me again. ALICE: I know. MABEL: My husbands says I monotonize the telephone. ALICE: They're all alike. Always complaining. MABEL: I told him the difference between us is I'm a totalitarian—never touch a drop. ALICE: Rollo went bowling Tuesday. He got to the top of the stoop at 2 a.m. and he and the ball went to the bottom.

MABEL: Was he hurt? ALICE: Not my Rollo. But the noise woke the whole neighborhood. Such language. MABEL: How about the ball? ALICE: Who cares? It was like hunting for a needle in a hayride. He finally gave up and went to bed. MABEL: Still cursing? ALICE: What else? It turned out to be my fault.

MABEL: He must have had a nice head in the morning. ALICE: Him? Drinking doesn't do anything to him except make him dopier. Believe it or not, he was up at the crank of dawn looking for that ball. MABEL: Did he find it? ALICE: For $22, he'd seal off the neighborhood. It was in McCarthy's alley across the street.

MABEL: What else is new? ALICE: What could be new? Get up. Get the children off. Clean the pigsty. Make breakfast for his royal highness. Do the shopping. Wait for the kids to come home from school. What can be new? The last time something new happened in this dump, the oil burner broke down. So tell me, what's new with you?

MABEL: Night before last, I went to Luna's coming out debris. It wasn't worth it, really. Just beer and pretzels. ALICE: What was she wearing? MABEL: One of those long orange organdy things. It had a sweetheart neck—remember the sweetheart neck? ALICE: She must have looked a sight. MABEL: The kid would have looked all right, but what can you do with a child who weighed 130 when she was ten? I mean, that's a size, Alice. Then when you put it in orange organdy, it looks like an eyetalian sunset.

ALICE: Rollo wouldn't let me go because he's not speaking to her father. MABEL: Your guy has a memory like a camel. ALICE: That's funny. An elephant you mean. A camel is the one who goes eight days without walking. MABEL: Anyway, I feel sorry for the kid. I remember when they sent her to the hospital with a romantic heart.

ALICE: You sure, honey? I thought it was polaroid. MABEL: No. We had the same doctor. ALICE: You cooking? MABEL: Just a little soup for the kids. They come home for lunch. ALICE: What kind? MABEL: Cream of chicken. I give it to them with cretonnes. ALICE: No cooking for me until tonight. I'm going to spend the afternoon reading. MABEL: You got a good book?

ALICE: Rollo read it. I heard him laughing one night so I'm going to tackle it. MABEL: Lolita? ALICE: No. It's called How to Lip the Trite Fantastic, by Alban Norris. MABEL: How to what the what? ALICE: How to Tripe the Frip Trantastic. I probably have it wrong. Anyway, I'll lend it to you. MABEL: Don't bother. I have enough trying to get time for Louella. That's one woman that really talks turtle.

ALICE: You said it. The real lowdown. MABEL: Want to go to the movies tonight? ALICE: Not me. I have to paint the kitchen tonight. MABEL: What's the matter with Roll? ALICE: You kidding? He can't paint and drink at the same time. I warned him, I said: 'One of these days, Rollo, you're going to get the T. V's'.

MABEL: What did he say? ALICE: Oh, funny, funny. He said: 'Back in the kennel, you'. MABEL: Mine's a riot too. A regular Red Skelton around the house. ALICE: I'm going to do my laughing when the cops provoke Rollo's license. MABEL: They never tell you what it's going to be like before the wedding. ALICE: Never.

MABEL: If they take my Pete's license, he'll have to go to work on a well-boiled icycle. Ha ha. ALICE: A what? MABEL: Sorry. I meant a well-soiled micycle. ALICE: Oh, well, I have to get back to the kitchen. MABEL: Something on the stove? ALICE: I told you I got that new electric one. Well, the dials must be wrong because every time I do a rost, it's done to a fragile.

MABEL: Try fifty degrees lower. ALICE: Someone told me it might be the silver furl I use. MABEL: It can't be, Alice. I use the same as you. After the kids go back, I'm going to have a little snoo for myself. ALICE: No sleep? MABEL: When Pete's got a load on, it's like sleeping in a blender.

ALICE: Ha ha. Well, you know what they say about insomnia. It's just mind over mattress. MABEL: Toodleoo. ALICE: Abyssynia . . .

Importance Of Evaluating Minor Symptoms

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

If we look after the little things of life, the big ones will take care of themselves" is an adage that bears remembering. Most of us recall friends with serious illnesses that originated a long time ago; they paid the penalty for looking upon the early symptoms are trifling.

In fairness to all, we must admit it is difficult to evaluate minor manifestations. Overstressing the situation leads some persons to pay too much attention to inconsequential aches and twinges. Many paths to physicians' offices have become well worn by men and women who look upon every deviation from normal as of vital importance. A more rational approach is the use of common sense and good judgment.

Sore throat, cough, toothache, cuts, fatigue, painful feet, indigestion, and slight bleeding are a few examples of the conditions most of us disregard. There is no doubt that influenza and most respiratory infections disappear spontaneously but these diseases of the nose and throat cause more invalidism and absenteeism than pneumonia, plurisy, asthma, and tuberculosis put together.

The duration of a warning signal is an important consideration. Hoarseness lasting more than three weeks might be a clue to cancer of the larynx. Indigestion of a few days' duration is not likely to be serious but when it persists, the cause should be searched for.

The same can be said of pain in any part of the body. A cough that hangs on should be viewed with suspicion and not blamed on cigaret smoking. Bleeding from any body opening may be caused by cancer.

Many symptoms are more difficult to evaluate, especially when they have an insidious onset. Fatigue and weakness are toughies. Severe depressions and changes in personality never should be neglected.

QUITE AN UNDERTAKING

B. E. L. writes: My son has bad perspiration of the feet. Has to wear different shoes every day and change socks twice a day. Some one told him to get some fluid from the undertaker's and bathe his feet in it. Do you think this would help?

REPLY

Possibly, provided the excessive perspiration is caused by an infection. Formaldehyde is a potent disinfectant but is too irritating to use on the skin unless diluted considerably. Take your son to a physician for diagnosis and a prescription product to reduce sweating.

CHOLESTEROL FEARS

S. F. writes: Can young children thrive without butter, eggs, and margarine? Their mother won't feed them these foods because of her cholesterol fears.

REPLY

Yes, but there is no need to deprive children of these products for the reason given. Some types of margarine are allowable even for older persons with high cholesterol levels in the blood.

SOFTENED BONES

E. F. writes: Is osteoporosis a form of arthritis?

REPLY

No, but it may be as painful as arthritis. Osteoporosis is a disorder in which the bone structure loses calcium and becomes softer than usual. It is one cause of backache in oldsters.

YES, FOR SOME

Mrs. G. writes: Is to easy to go insane?

REPLY

It has been said that everyone has a "breaking point" and some reach this point more quickly than others.

FAMILY STERILITY

A. T. writes: Is it possible for sterility to run in a family?

REPLY

Not for long.

TOMORROW: Learning to talk.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

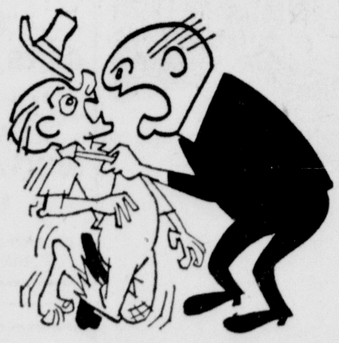
An itinerant preacher in the Blue Ridge Mountains shook an old reprobate and thundered, "Are you ready for the Judgment Day?" "Mebbe yes, mebbe no," said the old rep cagily. "When's it coming?" It might come this very day," warned the preacher. "Then again, it might come tomorrow."

By this time the old reprobate was registering genuine concern. "Don't tell my old woman," he begged. "She'd want to go both days."



An indignant customer called an electrical supply shop to demand, "What happened to that man you promised to send round to repair my broken doorbell?"

"He went to your house like I promised," answered the electrician, "and he stood there ringing that bell for a full fifteen minutes, but nobody answered, so he came back to the shop. You shouldn't be so inconsiderate in the future!"

A new girl in the check room of a popular nightclub whispered to a veteran employe, "What does it mean when a college student slips you a dollar-tip?" "It means," answered the knowing veteran, "that you have given him the wrong coat."

Art Carney took his car into a Westchester garage for a tuneup and was handed a bill for $120. 'Hey,' protested Carney, "who did this tune-up? Leonard Bernstein?"

Liston Knocks Out Patterson To Win World Heavyweight Title

Fight Ends In 2:06; 27,000 See Brief Affair In Chicago

By JACK CUDDY
UPI Sports Writer

CHICAGO (UPI)—Big Sonny Liston, who learned to box in prison, won the world heavyweight championship Tuesday night on third fastest knockout in heavyweight title history when his left hook dropped Floyd Patterson for the full 10-second count at 2:06 of the first round.

Liston brought the crowd of 27,000 to its feet in Comiskey Park when he spun the smaller champion halfway across the ring into the ropes with a right uppercut, followed by a barrage that had him half bending through the ropes.

Explodes Left Hook

It was then that big Sonny exploded a terrific left hook to the side of Patterson's jaw and dropped him to the canvas for his 13th knockdown during his two tenures as champion.

Patterson gamely pushed himself half off the canvas and remained there on the side of one hip with his right arm supporting him, while referee Frank Sikora tolled off the count above him. Patterson almost got to his feet at the count of 10 but not quite.

When Liston's hand was raised, Patterson—who seemed then to have come partially out of the fog—attempted to rush at Liston and resume the fight. But he was restrained by Liston's handlers and ultimately by his own, as disappointed as he was.

Other Quick Knockouts

Big Liston's great triumph in the ring's richest all-time fight was achieved in remarkably fast time that was bettered in the past only by Tommy Burns' knockout of Jem Roche at Dublin, Ireland, on March 27, 1908, in in 1:28 and by Joe Louis' 2:04 kayo of Max Schmeling on June 22, 1938, in their second fight.

There was an unofficially faster time achieved by heavyweight champion James Jeffries when he knocked out Jack Finnegan at Detroit in 55 seconds of a scheduled 10-round bout that was not advertised as for the title, but which would have cost Jeffries his crown had he been knocked out by the lightly-regarded Finnegan.

Liston captured the ring's most valuable crown in Patterson's 10th title fight, and in so doing, sapped the prestige of the only man ever to recapture the heavyweight title.

Liston, weighing 214 pounds to Patterson's 189, and having advantages in height, ruggedness, reach and apparently punch, did the forcing from the opening bell, and received only a few punches from Patterson during their abbreviated battle.

Meanwhile, Liston, using his long left jab like a pile-driver, kept shooting it at his small but game opponent and missing almost as often as he landed. He mixed his attack with left hooks to the body and a few rights to the head.

Liston's handlers swarmed into the ring and almost lifted the huge new champion from his feet, so over-joyed were they about the explosive "rehabilitation" of the man whose past—out of the ring activities were so unfavorable that he spent two terms in jail before becoming a professional boxer.

Liston, 28, had served a term in Missouri State Penitentiary for armed robbery and another term in the St. Louis jail for beating up a policeman—as his most severe penalties for his various misdeeds that caused 19 arrests.

Liston Was Favorite

Liston went into the ring at odds favoring him at 7½ to 5 although press polls had picked Patterson to win by a fair margin. His quick dispatch of Patterson as he scored his 27th straight victory indicated that the odds could have been 10 to 1.

However, if Patterson desires a return shot at the title, a contract provides that Liston must give it to him within a year. And Sonny, whose purse Tuesday night is expected to approximate $400,000 (including a $200,000 guaranty), must deposit all of his purse in escrow except $50,000 and expenses, to guarantee the return bout.

Liston told friends in the corner before being escorted down the aisle, "I got him with a left hook. None of his punches hurt me at all."

In the dressing room, frozen-faced Sonny added, "The only time he hurt me was when the referee reached the count of nine and Patterson raised to his knees. I thought he was going to make it before 10."

Sonny said he is willing to give Patterson a return shot just as soon as Floyd wants it. He added, "If (advisor) Jack Nilon would put the gloves on me right now, I'd fight him tonight again."

Patterson's only previous knockout defeat was on a seven-knockdown technical kayo on June 26, 1959, when Ingemar Johansson of Sweden took his title in the third round. However, Floyd became the only man to win back the heavyweight title by knocking out Johansson in the fifth round in June, 1960.

Floyd also belted out Johansson in the sixth round of their third title bout at Miami Beach in March, 1961.

Patterson's only other defeat in his 41 fights was on an unpopular decision to former light-heavyweight champion Joey Maxim in 1954.

Sonny's 24th Kayo

Liston Tuesday night achieved his 34th victory and 24th knockout in 35 fights. He had lost only a decision to Maury Marshall at Detroit, suffering a broken jaw in September, 1954.

Patterson told reporters in the dressing room he never saw the punch coming when the first left hook hit him and stunned him.

Floyd emphatically told newsmen, "I want to fight him again. I'll make up my mind during the next week and then decide when it will be."

Patterson will split the fighters' portion of the money from the next encounter with each getting 30 per cent of the promotion.

Patterson was expected to receive a record-breaking purse of more than $1,400,000 for Tuesday night's bout, which was sent by closed-circuit television to 271 theaters in the United States and Canada.

Officials of Graff, Reiner and Smith, Inc., estimated that about 600,000 seats had been sold for approximately $3,600,000.

Sonny Liston Pleads Chance To Make Good

Boxing's "Bad Guy" Becomes Champion

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

CHICAGO (AP)—Sonny Liston, the "bad guy" of boxing who suddenly became heavyweight champion of the world Tuesday night with a first round knockout of Floyd Patterson, pleaded for a chance to make good.

"If the public will allow me a chance to let bygones be bygones, I could be a good champ," he said in the crowded tumultuous dressing room at Comiskey Park.

"If the public will accept me I'll be a good champ," said the man who has served time in prison and has a spotty police record.

As for the fight, so sudden and so unexpected, it was all a matter of the famous left hook of Sonny Liston, said the new champion.

"I hit him with a left hook and he tied me up," said Liston. "The referee said to break and he grabbed the ropes. That gave me the idea he was hurt and I hit him with a couple of good lefts. That was it."

Liston had a hard time with the newspaper reporters.

"I'd rather go out there and fight him again than answer all these questions," he muttered.

Someone asked the inevitable—"did he hurt you?"

"The only time he hurt me was when he got up at the count of ten and I thought he was going to fight some more."

That brought a big laugh.

It all got back to the left hook.

How Liston Won Title

CHICAGO (UPI) — Here is a description of the first round of the Sonny Liston-Floyd Patterson fight:

Round One

Liston led with two left jabs and Patterson reached him with a left and right which did no damage. They clinched and Patterson banged a right to the ribs and Liston shoved him off. They tied each other up again and Liston landed a left to the chest. They clinched again and Liston landed a right to the ribs. Patterson leaped in trying a right to the body and they clinched with Liston landing more effectively in the infighting. Liston landed two hard lefts to the jaw. Also a left to the body. But Patterson, landed a right to the body in return. Patterson, crowding in close, was knocked down by a left hook, then counted out..

Fight Ends In 2:06; 27,000 See Brief Affair In Chicago

By JACK CUDDY
UPI Sports Writer

CHICAGO (UPI)—Big Sonny Liston, who learned to box in prison, won the world heavyweight championship Tuesday night on third fastest knockout in heavyweight title history when his left hook dropped Floyd Patterson for the full 10-second count at 2:06 of the first round.

Liston brought the crowd of 27,000 to its feet in Comiskey Park when he spun the smaller champion halfway across the ring into the ropes with a right uppercut, followed by a barrage that had him half bending through the ropes.

It was then that big Sonny exploded a terrific left hook to the side of Patterson's jaw and dropped him to the canvas for his 13th knockdown during his two tenures as champion.

Patterson gamely pushed himself half off the canvas and remained there on the side of one hip with his right arm supporting him, while referee Frank Sikora tolled off the count above him. Patterson almost got to his feet at the count of 10 but not quite.

When Liston's hand was raised, Patterson—who seemed then to have come partially out of the fog—attempted to rush at Liston and resume the fight. But he was restrained by Liston's handlers and ultimately by his own, as disappointed as he was.

Other Quick Knockouts

Big Liston's great triumph in the ring's richest all-time fight was achieved in remarkably fast time that was bettered in the past only by Tommy Burns' knockout of Jem Roche at Dublin, Ireland, on March 27, 1908, in in 1:28 and by Joe Louis' 2:04 kayo of Max Schmeling on June 22, 1938, in their second fight.

There was an unofficially faster time achieved by heavyweight champion James Jeffries when he knocked out Jack Finnegan at Detroit in 55 seconds of a scheduled 10-round bout that was not advertised as for the title, but which would have cost Jeffries his crown had he been knocked out by the lightly-regarded Finnegan.

Liston captured the ring's most valuable crown in Patterson's 10th title fight, and in so doing, sapped the prestige of the only man ever to recapture the heavyweight title.

Liston, weighing 214 pounds to Patterson's 189, and having advantages in height, ruggedness, reach and apparently punch, did the forcing from the opening bell, and received only a few punches from Patterson during their abbreviated battle.

Meanwhile, Liston, using his long left jab like a pile-driver, kept shooting it at his small but game opponent and missing almost as often as he landed. He mixed his attack with left hooks to the body and a few rights to the head.

Liston's handlers swarmed into the ring and almost lifted the huge new champion from his feet, so over-joyed were they about the explosive "rehabilitation" of the man whose past—out of the ring activities were so unfavorable that he spent two terms in jail before becoming a professional boxer.

Liston, 28, had served a term in Missouri State Penitentiary for armed robbery and another term in the St. Louis jail for beating up a policeman—as his most severe penalties for his various misdeeds that caused 19 arrests.

Liston Was Favorite

Liston went into the ring at odds favoring him at 7½ to 5 although press polls had picked Patterson to win by a fair margin. His quick dispatch of Patterson as he scored his 27th straight victory indicated that the odds could have been 10 to 1.

However, if Patterson desires a return shot at the title, a contract provides that Liston must give it to him within a year. And Sonny, whose purse Tuesday night is expected to approximate $400,000 (including a $200,000 guaranty), must deposit all of his purse in escrow except $50,000 and expenses, to guarantee the return bout.

Liston told friends in the corner before being escorted down the aisle, "I got him with a left hook. None of his punches hurt me at all."

In the dressing room, frozen-faced Sonny added, "The only time he hurt me was when the referee reached the count of nine and Patterson raised to his knees. I thought he was going to make it before 10."

Sonny said he is willing to give Patterson a return shot just as soon as Floyd wants it. He added, "If (advisor) Jack Nilon would put the gloves on me right now, I'd fight him tonight again."

Patterson's only previous knockout defeat was on a seven-knockdown technical kayo on June 26, 1959, when Ingemar Johansson of Sweden took his title in the third round. However, Floyd became the only man to win back the heavyweight title by knocking out Johansson in the fifth round in June, 1960.

Floyd also belted out Johansson in the sixth round of their third title bout at Miami Beach in March, 1961.

Patterson's only other defeat in his 41 fights was on an unpopular decision to former light-heavyweight champion Joey Maxim in 1954.

Sonny's 24th Kayo

Liston Tuesday night achieved his 34th victory and 24th knockout in 35 fights. He had lost only a decision to Maury Marshall at Detroit, suffering a broken jaw in September, 1954.

Patterson told reporters in the dressing room he never saw the punch coming when the first left hook hit him and stunned him.

Floyd emphatically told newsmen, "I want to fight him again. I'll make up my mind during the next week and then decide when it will be."

Patterson will split the fighters' portion of the money from the next encounter with each getting 30 per cent of the promotion.

Patterson was expected to receive a record-breaking purse of more than $1,400,000 for Tuesday night's bout, which was sent by closed-circuit television to 271 theaters in the United States and Canada.

Officials of Graff, Reiner and Smith, Inc., estimated that about 600,000 seats had been sold for approximately $3,600,000.

Sonny Liston Pleads Chance To Make Good

Boxing's "Bad Guy" Becomes Champion

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

CHICAGO (AP)—Sonny Liston, the "bad guy" of boxing who suddenly became heavyweight champion of the world Tuesday night with a first round knockout of Floyd Patterson, pleaded for a chance to make good.

"If the public will allow me a chance to let bygones be bygones, I could be a good champ," he said in the crowded tumultuous dressing room at Comiskey Park.

"If the public will accept me I'll be a good champ," said the man who has served time in prison and has a spotty police record.

As for the fight, so sudden and so unexpected, it was all a matter of the famous left hook of Sonny Liston, said the new champion.

"I hit him with a left hook and he tied me up," said Liston. "The referee said to break and he grabbed the ropes. That gave me the idea he was hurt and I hit him with a couple of good lefts. That was it."

Liston had a hard time with the newspaper reporters.

"I'd rather go out there and fight him again than answer all these questions," he muttered.

Someone asked the inevitable—"did he hurt you?"

"The only time he hurt me was when he got up at the count of ten and I thought he was going to fight some more."

That brought a big laugh.

It all got back to the left hook.

How Liston Won Title

CHICAGO (UPI) — Here is a description of the first round of the Sonny Liston-Floyd Patterson fight:

Round One

Liston led with two left jabs and Patterson reached him with a left and right which did no damage. They clinched and Patterson banged a right to the ribs and Liston shoved him off. They tied each other up again and Liston landed a left to the chest. They clinched again and Liston landed a right to the ribs. Patterson leaped in trying a right to the body and they clinched with Liston landing more effectively in the infighting. Liston landed two hard lefts to the jaw. Also a left to the body. But Patterson, landed a right to the body in return. Patterson, crowding in close, was knocked down by a left hook, then counted out.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Philadelphia Mayor James H. J. Tate Tuesday night congratulated Sonny Liston for "bringing the heavy weight boxing championship to the city of Philadelphia."

Yankees Clinch 27th AL Pennant By Beating Washington, 8-3

Whitey Ford Rings Up 17th Win Of Year

Mickey Mantle Gets Four Of 16 Blows; Daniels Is Loser

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees clinched their 27th American League pennant Tuesday night — in typical business-like style — when Whitey Ford and Mickey Mantle collaborated in a 8-3 victory over the Washington Senators.

It was the Yanks' 12th pennant in the last 14 years and the second successive pennant in as many tries for 42-year-old manager Ralph Houk, keeping him even with the "timetable" of his predecessor, Casey Stengel, who also won pennants in his first two years with the Yankees and then went on to capture eight more.

Ford, who undoubtedly will start the first game of the World Series for the Yankees on Oct.3, scattered 12 hits and struck out six for his 17th victory of the year while Mantle enjoyed a perfect night with four singles and a walk.

The Yankees made short work of Washington starter Bennie Daniels, who departed for a pinch hitter in the fifth inning after giving up three runs and eight of New York's 16 hits.

Mantle, playing in his 10th pennant-winner, drove in two runs and scored two others.

Dale Long's single made the score 3-1 in the third inning and the Yankees could taste the champagne when they added two more runs off reliever Steve Hamilton in the fifth. Singles by Tom Tresh, Mantle and Bill Skowron plus a passed ball by catcher Bob Schmidt did the damage.

Skowron blasted his 23rd homer of the season into the lower left field seats off Pete Burnside in the seventh and Mantle singled home the Yankees' final run in the eighth.

Only 10,335 turned out to watch the Yankees make it official.

Posts 14th Victory For Boston Sox, 4-0

BOSTON (AP) — Frank Malzone drove in three runs behind Bill Monbouquette's five-hit pitching Tuesday as the Boston Red Sox defeated Chicago 4-0.

Malzone, bringing his club-leading RBI total to 94, singled home one run in the opening inning and added two more with a bases-loaded single in Boston's three-run seventh.

Monbo struck out five while winning his 14th game against 13 defeats.

Two of the White Sox hits came in the seventh in the visitors' only threat.

Juan Pizarro, 12-14, was the loser, giving up all four runs.

Tigers Edge Angels, 3-2

Triple By Kaline Wins Game In 9th

DETROIT (AP) — Al Kaline's triple with two out in the ninth drove in two unearned runs and lifted the Detroit Tigers to a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Angels Tuesday.

The Tigers had led 1-0 on an unearned run until the Angels countered with two runs in the top of the ninth. Tom Satriano's homer started the Angel rally and Albie Pearson tripled and scored on Billy Moran's single.

Billy Bruton, the Tigers' center fielder, collided with Kaline on Pearson's hit, and was carried from the field on a stretcher. Bruton was clipped in the jaw by Kaline's shoulder and knocked unconscious. He was taken to a hospital for X rays after regaining consciousness.

The X rays showed Bruton's jaw was fractured, and trainer Jack Homel said, "It's a bad one." Homel said Bruton will be unable to play for six weeks, which means he'll probably miss the Tigers' post-season trip to Japan.

Liberty Bowl Game Is Charity Affair

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Henceforth the annual Liberty Bowl football game in Philadelphia will be played for charity.

Ambrose F. (Bud) Dudley, president of the Liberty Bowl Association, made the disclosure Monday in a speech to the Touchdown Club.

The game has had rough going financially since its inception in 1959. This year's game is scheduled for Dec. 15.

Dudley said the Liberty Bowl Charities Association would be non-profit, adding that the mayor said he could give more support under that setup.

Downes Defeats Sugar Robinson In London Bout

12,000 See Battle Of Former Champs

WEMBLEY, England (UPI)—Terry Downes of England held off a sizzling final round by Sugar Ray Robinson Tuesday night to win a 10-round decision over the New Yorker in a clash of two former world middleweight champions.

The packed Wembley Arena crowd of 12,000 roared delight as referee Andrew Smythe of Belfast raised Downes' hand after a closely-fought battle in which Robinson, spotting the Englishman 15 years and two pounds, showed flashes of the brilliance that won him the world welterweight and middleweight crowns during a long career.

Downes, 26, came in at 161 pounds. Robinson, 41 or 42 according to differing versions, tipped the scales at 159.

There were no knockdowns in a scrap so tight United Press International scored it 5-4-1 for Downes. But Robinson's left eye was cut in the fourth round as Downes staggered him with hard lefts and rights. The Englishman also came near to disaster in this round when he was badly shaken in a collision of heads. The referee warned Robinson to be "more careful."

Robinson came out strong for the 10th with vicious right crosses and left hooks that stung the Paddington scrapper. The American, who was hoping for a win to back his challenge for a sixth world title bid, evidently realized he needed a knockout to win.

Robinson crashed punches to Downes' head, but then was forced back to the ropes. He closed in once again in a last frenzied effort, flinging both hands at the Englishman's head. But it was too late to affect the outcome.

Joe Cambria Dies Scoreless 7 Years

THE DEATH of Joe Cambria, 72, at Minneapolis, should revive memories of 1931 when the Baltimore laundry owner brought Hagerstown into the Middle Atlantic League, the year the circuit had 12 teams and the Cumberland Colts won the championship.

Hagerstown's franchise was moved to Parkersburg, W. Va., and wound up in Youngstown, Ohio, that year.

Cambria scouted for the Washington Senators for many years and brought many Cuban ballplayers to this country, the top ones being Camilo Pascual and Pedro Ramos.

One of Cambria's stars at Hagerstown was Gordon "Babe" Phelps, the powerful catcher, who won the batting championship of the M.A. with an average of .408 and went up to the majors with the Dodgers.

The last time we saw Joe was in 1960 during the World Series at Forbes Field.

Dan Parker, of the New York Daily Mirror, asked Cambria what he thought of Fidel Castro as a college ballplayer, and Joe replied:

"He was just a fair ballplayer and he always wanted to play in the majors. He failed because he couldn't go to his right."

ANOTHER item of interest to "oldtimers" is the reunion of the Fairmont "Black Diamonds" teams of 1928-29 at Fairmont, W. Va., October 3.

The late "Hooker" Joe Phillips managed the 1928 Fairmont team, victory over the Wheeling Stogies for the Mid-Atlantic title. Phillips piloted the Cumberland Colts in 1930.

Julius "Moose" Solters, Tony Cyran, Art Cousins, Fred "Apples" Holland, Eddie Sobb, "Chip" Helmick, Art Mueller and Harold Roberts were among the Fairmont stars of that era.

Cumberland finished second in both halves in 1928 and during the second half wound up only 1½ games back of Fairmont.

In addition to copping the M. A. title, Fairmont won four straight games from Hanover of the Blue Ridge League in a post-season series.

WHEN Beall High School plays Fort Hill Friday night at Frostburg the Mountaineers will be trying to break a 7-year scoreless drought.

Beall has been shut out seven years in a row and during that period Fort Hill has amassed a total of 235 points.

Fort Hill has won 12 consecutive games since the series started in 1947.

TWO newly proposed rules for possible use during the regular National Basketball Association season will be tried out during the exhibition season this fall. The proposed changes are:

1. Widen the free throw lane from 12 to 15 feet.

2. Eliminate a free throw for a player who has been fouled but makes his shot.

The foul will still count against the offending player but the three-point play will be eliminated.

Fairmont's Reunion NBA Tries New Rules

N.B.A. officials believe the change will cut down the high scores and help to speed up play.

TEXAS is tenth in the country in number of school age children, yet ranks first in number of high school football and basketball players.

BOB Scheffing, manager of the Detroit Tigers and former National Leaguer, says:

"Mickey Mantle at his best is a greater ballplayer than anybody in the National League."

ONE of the most reliable sports publicists in the tri-state area is Charles Grubb, of Oakland, the secretary of the Town and Country Softball League in Garrett County.

Grubb has reported all of the league games since the circuit was formed and he has done a swell job in handling an average of four doubleheaders every Sunday during the long season.

Alabama 1961 Champ, Heads First Ratings

Crimson Tide Won Opening Game, 35-0

By JACK STILLMAN

ATLANTA (AP) — Alabama's Crimson Tide is off to a roaring start in defense of its national football championship, taking the No. 1 rating away from Ohio State the pre-season choice.

But according to Coach Paul Bryant, Alabama isn't roaring, the team isn't sensational, and it's not the kind of a football team he expects to have by the end of the season.

All of which is Bryant's way of saying the fellows are going to have to work to keep the reputation they've acquired.

Of the No. 1 choice, Bryant said at Tuscaloosa, Ala., "That's just fine with me. I'm tickled to death."

Not Interested In Polls

Then he added:

"Really, I'm not interested in polls right now. My main interest is to get our injured people well and develop the type of team the people seem to expect us to have."

A dramatic varsity debut by sophomore quarterback Joe Namath sparked Alabama to a 35-0 triumph over Georgia last Saturday night in the season opener. Namath threw three touchdown passes in less than three quarters. Ohio State opens its season against North Carolina this weekend.

Alabama trailed 19-14 in first-place votes cast by The Associated Press nationwide board of electors, but had a 342-298 edge in points.

Next in the top ten came Texas, Penn State, Louisiana State, Michigan State, Mississippi, Georgia Tech, Southern California and Missouri.

Texas Is Third Choice

Texas, the third choice in the poll, put on a 22-point drive in the second half to beat Oregon 24-13.

Penn State beat Navy 41-7, Louisiana State defeated Texas A&M 21-0, Mississippi beat Memphis State 21-7, Georgia Tech downed Clemson 26-9, Southern Cal upset Duke 14-7, and Missouri beat California 21-10 with sophomore Johnny Roland scoring all three Tiger touchdowns.

Michigan State, like Ohio State, doesn't begin play until this weekend. The Spartans meet Stanford.

Kids' Grid League In Frostburg Area To Form Thursday

The Kids' Football League for boys in the Frostburg area will be organized for the 1962 season Thursday with a meeting set for 6:30 p. m., at Beall High Stadium.

Any Frostburg area boy 12 years of age and under as of September 1, 1962, is eligible to participate.

The Kids play a non-contact "flag football" game with punting, passing, running and all of the non-contact features of football.

This is the fifth year of league operation. Four teams will be organized with the Steelers, Colts, Giants and Redskins competing.

Adults are asked to serve as coaches and officials in the league. Any adult interested in helping out is asked to contact Coach Jerry Calhoun of Beall High School by phone or attend the meeting.

Argentine Fighter Remains In Coma

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Argentine boxer Alejandro Lavorante's prolonged struggle to survive two emergency brain operations entered its fourth day Tuesday with little perceptible change in his condition, and the fighter still in a coma.

The handsome 25-year-old heavyweight's father, Alejandro Lavorante Sr., flew here Tuesday from Buenos Aires, Argentina.

A spokesman at California Lutheran Hospital said Lavorante was in a coma and in serious condition.

Dr. J. DeWitt Fox, the neurosurgeon who performed both brain surgeries, and a tracheotomy said "all his vital signs (blood pressure, pulse and respiration) are stabilizing." "He could come out of the coma in several days."

Gaithersburg Pastor Plans Drive To Stop Betting On Horses

GAITHERSBURG, Md. (AP)—The Rev. Andrew Gunn, pastor of Grace Methodist Church here, is organizing a drive against horse race betting.

Gunn helped lead the fight against slot machines in Maryland.

He said he believes that slot machines, which are legal in four Maryland counties, are "on the way out" and that the next goal is elimination of horse-race betting in the state.

"I think races should be sporting events, not betting events," he said. "I'm not against horse racing as such but I want to eliminate betting."

He said he has planned a series of meetings with other ministers to discuss the anti-betting campagn.

Yankees Clinch 27th AL Pennant By Beating Washington, 8-3

Whitey Ford Rings Up 17th Win Of Year

Mickey Mantle Gets Four Of 16 Blows; Daniels Is Loser

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees clinched their 27th American League pennant Tuesday night — in typical business-like style — when Whitey Ford and Mickey Mantle collaborated in a 8-3 victory over the Washington Senators.

It was the Yanks' 12th pennant in the last 14 years and the second successive pennant in as many tries for 42-year-old manager Ralph Houk, keeping him even with the "timetable" of his predecessor, Casey Stengel, who also won pennants in his first two years with the Yankees and then went on to capture eight more.

Ford, who undoubtedly will start the first game of the World Series for the Yankees on Oct.3, scattered 12 hits and struck out six for his 17th victory of the year while Mantle enjoyed a perfect night with four singles and a walk.

The Yankees made short work of Washington starter Bennie Daniels, who departed for a pinch hitter in the fifth inning after giving up three runs and eight of New York's 16 hits.

Mantle, playing in his 10th pennant-winner, drove in two runs and scored two others.

Dale Long's single made the score 3-1 in the third inning and the Yankees could taste the champagne when they added two more runs off reliever Steve Hamilton in the fifth. Singles by Tom Tresh, Mantle and Bill Skowron plus a passed ball by catcher Bob Schmidt did the damage.

Skowron blasted his 23rd homer of the season into the lower left field seats off Pete Burnside in the seventh and Mantle singled home the Yankees' final run in the eighth.

Only 10,335 turned out to watch the Yankees make it official.

Posts 14th Victory For Boston Sox, 4-0

BOSTON (AP) — Frank Malzone drove in three runs behind Bill Monbouquette's five-hit pitching Tuesday as the Boston Red Sox defeated Chicago 4-0.

Malzone, bringing his club-leading RBI total to 94, singled home one run in the opening inning and added two more with a bases-loaded single in Boston's three-run seventh.

Monbo struck out five while winning his 14th game against 13 defeats.

Two of the White Sox hits came in the seventh in the visitors' only threat.

Juan Pizarro, 12-14, was the loser, giving up all four runs.

Tigers Edge Angels, 3-2

Triple By Kaline Wins Game In 9th

DETROIT (AP) — Al Kaline's triple with two out in the ninth drove in two unearned runs and lifted the Detroit Tigers to a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Angels Tuesday.

The Tigers had led 1-0 on an unearned run until the Angels countered with two runs in the top of the ninth. Tom Satriano's homer started the Angel rally and Albie Pearson tripled and scored on Billy Moran's single.

Billy Bruton, the Tigers' center fielder, collided with Kaline on Pearson's hit, and was carried from the field on a stretcher. Bruton was clipped in the jaw by Kaline's shoulder and knocked unconscious. He was taken to a hospital for X rays after regaining consciousness.

The X rays showed Bruton's jaw was fractured, and trainer Jack Homel said, "It's a bad one." Homel said Bruton will be unable to play for six weeks, which means he'll probably miss the Tigers' post-season trip to Japan.

Downes Defeats Sugar Robinson In London Bout

12,000 See Battle Of Former Champs

WEMBLEY, England (UPI)—Terry Downes of England held off a sizzling final round by Sugar Ray Robinson Tuesday night to win a 10-round decision over the New Yorker in a clash of two former world middleweight champions.

The packed Wembley Arena crowd of 12,000 roared delight as referee Andrew Smythe of Belfast raised Downes' hand after a closely-fought battle in which Robinson, spotting the Englishman 15 years and two pounds, showed flashes of the brilliance that won him the world welterweight and middleweight crowns during a long career.

Downes, 26, came in at 161 pounds. Robinson, 41 or 42 according to differing versions, tipped the scales at 159.

There were no knockdowns in a scrap so tight United Press International scored it 5-4-1 for Downes. But Robinson's left eye was cut in the fourth round as Downes staggered him with hard lefts and rights. The Englishman also came near to disaster in this round when he was badly shaken in a collision of heads. The referee warned Robinson to be "more careful."

Robinson came out strong for the 10th with vicious right crosses and left hooks that stung the Paddington scrapper. The American, who was hoping for a win to back his challenge for a sixth world title bid, evidently realized he needed a knockout to win.

Robinson crashed punches to Downes' head, but then was forced back to the ropes. He closed in once again in a last frenzied effort, flinging both hands at the Englishman's head. But it was too late to affect the outcome.

Joe Cambria Dies Scoreless 7 Years

Fairmont's Reunion

NBA Tries New Rules

By C. V. BURNS

THE DEATH of Joe Cambria, 72, at Minneapolis, should revive memories of 1931 when the Baltimore laundry owner brought Hagerstown into the Middle Atlantic League, the year the circuit had 12 teams and the Cumberland Colts won the championship.

Hagerstown's franchise was moved to Parkersburg, W. Va., and wound up in Youngstown, Ohio, that year.

Cambria scouted for the Washington Senators for many years and brought many Cuban ballplayers to this country, the top ones being Camilo Pascual and Pedro Ramos.

One of Cambria's stars at Hagerstown was Gordon "Babe" Phelps, the powerful catcher, who won the batting championship of the M.A. with an average of .408 and went up to the majors with the Dodgers.

The last time we saw Joe was in 1960 during the World Series at Forbes Field.

Dan Parker, of the New York Daily Mirror, asked Cambria what he thought of Fidel Castro as a college ballplayer, and Joe replied:

"He was just a fair ballplayer and he always wanted to play in the majors. He failed because he couldn't go to his right."

ANOTHER item of interest to "oldtimers" is the reunion of the Fairmont "Black Diamonds" teams of 1928-29 at Fairmont, W. Va., October 3.

The late "Hooker" Joe Phillips managed the 1928 Fairmont team, victory over the Wheeling Stogies for the Mid-Atlantic title. Phillips piloted the Cumberland Colts in 1930.

Julius "Moose" Solters, Tony Cyran, Art Cousins, Fred "Apples" Holland, Eddie Sobb, "Chip" Helmick, Art Mueller and Harold Roberts were among the Fairmont stars of that era.

Cumberland finished second in both halves in 1928 and during the second half wound up only 1½ games back of Fairmont.

In addition to copping the M. A. title, Fairmont won four straight games from Hanover of the Blue Ridge League in a post-season series.

In 1928 Johnny Byrnes, who is still in the grocery business at Eckhart, batted .359 in 126 games for Cumberland and Eddie Conley hit .350.

WHEN Beall High School plays Fort Hill Friday night at Frostburg the Mountaineers will be trying to break a 7-year scoreless drought.

Beall has been shut out seven years in a row and during that period Fort Hill has amassed a total of 235 points.

Fort Hill has won 12 consecutive games since the series started in 1947.

TWO newly proposed rules for possible use during the regular National Basketball Association season will be tried out during the exhibition season this fall. The proposed changes are:

1. Widen the free throw lane from 12 to 15 feet.

2. Eliminate a free throw for a player who has been fouled but makes his shot.

The foul will still count against the offending player but the three-point play will be eliminated.

N.B.A. officials believe the change will cut down the high scores and help to speed up play.

TEXAS is tenth in the country in number of school age children, yet ranks first in number of high school football and basketball players.

Latest figures show 111,000 boys engaged in football and 76,000 in basketball.

BOB Scheffing, manager of the Detroit Tigers and former National Leaguer, says:

"Mickey Mantle at his best is a greater ballplayer than anybody in the National League."

ONE of the most reliable sports publicists in the tri-state area is Charles Grubb, of Oakland, the secretary of the Town and Country Softball League in Garrett County.

Grubb has reported all of the league games since the circuit was formed and he has done a swell job in handling an average of four doubleheaders every Sunday during the long season.

Alabama 1961 Champ, Heads First Ratings

Crimson Tide Won Opening Game, 35-0

By JACK STILLMAN

ATLANTA (AP) — Alabama's Crimson Tide is off to a roaring start in defense of its national football championship, taking the No. 1 rating away from Ohio State the pre-season choice.

But according to Coach Paul Bryant, Alabama isn't roaring, the team isn't sensational, and it's not the kind of a football team he expects to have by the end of the season.

All of which is Bryant's way of saying the fellows are going to have to work to keep the reputation they've acquired.

Of the No. 1 choice, Bryant said at Tuscaloosa, Ala., "That's just fine with me. I'm tickled to death."

Not Interested In Polls

Then he added:

"Really, I'm not interested in polls right now. My main interest is to get our injured people well and develop the type of team the people seem to expect us to have."

A dramatic varsity debut by sophomore quarterback Joe Namath sparked Alabama to a 35-0 triumph over Georgia last Saturday night in the season opener. Namath threw three touchdown passes in less than three quarters. Ohio State opens its season against North Carolina this weekend.

Alabama trailed 19-14 in first-place votes cast by The Associated Press nationwide board of electors, but had a 342-298 edge in points.

Next in the top ten came Texas, Penn State, Louisiana State, Michigan State, Mississippi, Georgia Tech, Southern California and Missouri.

Texas Is Third Choice

Texas, the third choice in the poll, put on a 22-point drive in the second half to beat Oregon 24-13.

Penn State beat Navy 41-7, Louisiana State defeated Texas A&M 21-0, Mississippi beat Memphis State 21-7, Georgia Tech downed Clemson 26-9, Southern Cal upset Duke 14-7, and Missouri beat California 21-10 with sophomore Johnny Roland scoring all three Tiger touchdowns.

Michigan State, like Ohio State, doesn't begin play until this weekend. The Spartans meet Stanford.

Kids' Grid League In Frostburg Area To Form Thursday

The Kids' Football League for boys in the Frostburg area will be organized for the 1962 season Thursday with a meeting set for 6:30 p. m., at Beall High Stadium.

Any Frostburg area boy 12 years of age and under as of September 1, 1962, is eligible to participate.

The Kids play a non-contact "flag football" game with punting, passing, running and all of the non-contact features of football.

This is the fifth year of league operation. Four teams will be organized with the Steelers, Colts, Giants and Redskins competing.

Adults are asked to serve as coaches and officials in the league. Any adult interested in helping out is asked to contact Coach Jerry Calhoun of Beall High School by phone or attend the meeting.

GAITHERSBURG, Md. (AP)—The Rev. Andrew Gunn, pastor of Grace Methodist Church here, is organizing a drive against horse race betting.

Gunn helped lead the fight against slot machines in Maryland.

He said he has planned a series of meetings with other ministers to discuss the anti-betting campagn.

Weatherly Wins By 1,000 Yards, U.S. Retains America's Cup

Gretel Trails By Half Mile In Fifth Test

Yachting Trophy Remains In United States 111th Year

By JACK V. FOX
United Press International

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)— The blue sloop Weatherly came sailing serenly home Tuesday more than a half mile ahead of Australia's Gretel and kept yachting's America's Cup in the United States where it has been for 111 years.

Bus Mosbacher on the U.S. 12 meter boat proved himself a great skipper with a fine crew in leading all the way Tuesday against an Aussie challenger saluted by yachting men as the toughest competitor Weatherly had ever met.

Thus did the United States win the match for the bottomless silver pitcher, four races to one. But at no time did Weatherly make a rout of it as happened when America's Columbia beat the British yacht Sceptre in 1958.

1,000 Yards Ahead

In Tuesday's fifth and final race, Mosbacher brought Weatherly home ahead by a distance of 1,000 yards and a time of three minutes, 40 seconds.

He got his boat, as usual, off to the favored windward position over canny Aussie skipper Jock Sturrock, took the lead within five minutes and never was headed throughout the day. At the finish, with spinnaker out, he was almost flying.

This was a roller-coaster 24-mile course Tuesday.

The first six-mile leg was up into the wind and two sloops tacked off on angles and made slow time. Rounding the mark, they scooted down the windward leg.

On previous days, Gretel had gained on the donwind run but today she lost ground steadily no matter the direction. The wind was approximately nine knots at the start and 13 at the finish.

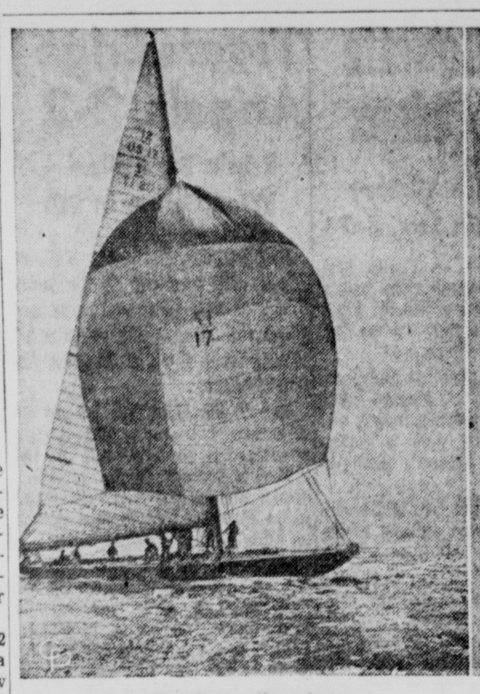
Few Spectators Watch

There were only about 50 to 75 spectator boats out to witness this wrap-up of the America's Cup competition for 1962. For the opener on Saturday, Sept. 15, there had been something like 2,000 craft swarming about.

President Kennedy saw all of the first race, the start of the second and the thrilling third encounter in which Australia lost by 26 seconds—the closest encounter since the schooner America took the pitcher away from 14 British sailboats in the year 1851.

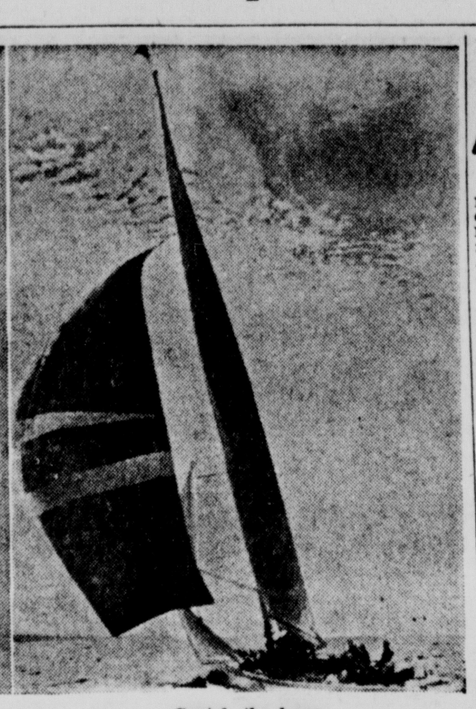
Gretel came home on that triangular course 47 seconds ahead of Weatherly in Mosbacher's one defeat. The American boat broke its spinnaker pole on that final home finish or Sturrock might not have won that one, either.

Yet, there never was any tendency to count the Australians out—at least not until Tuesday's race, which turned out to be the dullest of the series.



Weatherly, the winner

The America's Cup



Gretel, the loser

U. S. WINNER 18TH TIME — For the 18th time American yachtsmen have won the America's Cup, international trophy, first won by the vessel America back in 1851, in races held off Rhode Island. The Weatherly retained the trophy for the U. S. yesterday by defeating the Gretel for the fourth time in five races. Australians made their first challenge this year. Heretofore British boats were always challengers and each time they were defeated.

Weatherly Wins By 1,000 Yards, U.S. Retains America's Cup

Gretel Trails By Half Mile In Fifth Test

Yachting Trophy Remains In United States 111th Year

By JACK V. FOX
United Press International

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)— The blue sloop Weatherly came sailing serenly home Tuesday more than a half mile ahead of Australia's Gretel and kept yachting's America's Cup in the United States where it has been for 111 years.

Bus Mosbacher on the U.S. 12 meter boat proved himself a great skipper with a fine crew in leading all the way Tuesday against an Aussie challenger saluted by yachting men as the toughest competitor Weatherly had ever met.

Thus did the United States win the match for the bottomless silver pitcher, four races to one. But at no time did Weatherly make a rout of it as happened when America's Columbia beat the British yacht Sceptre in 1958.

1,000 Yards Ahead

In Tuesday's fifth and final race, Mosbacher brought Weatherly home ahead by a distance of 1,000 yards and a time of three minutes, 40 seconds.

He got his boat, as usual, off to the favored windward position over canny Aussie skipper Jock Sturrock, took the lead within five minutes and never was headed throughout the day. At the finish, with spinnaker out, he was almost flying.

This was a roller-coaster 24-mile course Tuesday.

The first six-mile leg was up into the wind and two sloops tacked off on angles and made slow time. Rounding the mark, they scooted down the windward leg.

On previous days, Gretel had gained on the donwind run but today she lost ground steadily no matter the direction. The wind was approximately nine knots at the start and 13 at the finish.

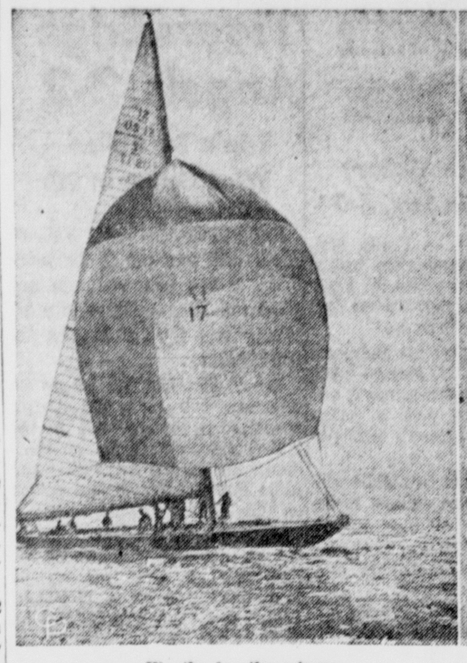
Few Spectators Watch

There were only about 50 to 75 spectator boats out to witness this wrap-up of the America's Cup competition for 1962. For the opener on Saturday, Sept. 15, there had been something like 2,000 craft swarming about.

President Kennedy saw all of the first race, the start of the second and the thrilling third encounter in which Australia lost by 26 seconds—the closest encounter since the schooner America took the pitcher away from 14 British sailboats in the year 1851.

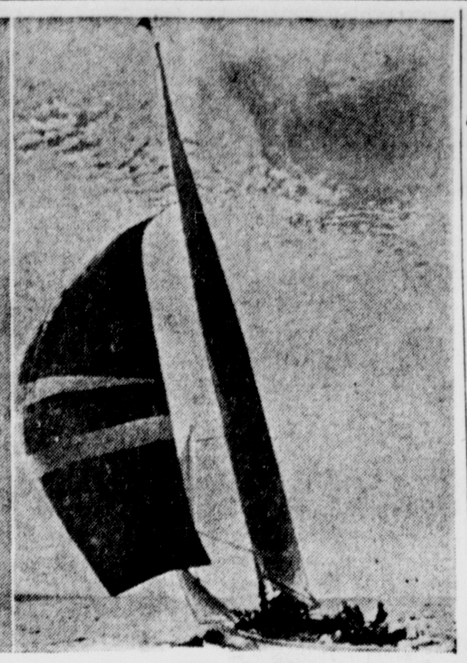
Gretel came home on that triangular course 47 seconds ahead of Weatherly in Mosbacher's one defeat. The American boat broke its spinnaker pole on that final home finish or Sturrock might not have won that one, either.

Yet, there never was any tendency to count the Australians out—at least not until Tuesday's race, which turned out to be the dullest of the series.



Weatherly, the winner

The America's Cup



Gretel, the loser

U. S. WINNER 18TH TIME — For the 18th time American yachtsmen have won the America's Cup, international trophy, first won by the vessel America back in 1851, in races held off Rhode Island. The Weatherly retained the trophy for the U. S. yesterday by defeating the Gretel for the fourth time in five races. Australians made their first challenge this year. Heretofore British boats were always challengers and each time they were defeated.

Stocks Close At Highest Level Since Late August

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks snapped a string of three declines Tuesday and closed at their best levels since the end of August.

The list opened much the same as in the three previous sessions—easier—but began to rally shortly after a Senate Judiciary Committee declined to vote contempt citations against four steel companies and nine of their executives who refused to surrender secret cost data. Steels were quick to respond and the enthusiasm spread quickly to most other sections of the list.

Dow-Jones industrials were up 5.31—their sharpest climb since they rose 6.86 on Aug. 31. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index tacked on 0.33 and trading totaled 3,620,000 shares compared with 5,000,000 in the previous session.

A total of 1,251 issues were traded of which 604 advanced and 375 declined—of these 49 hit new 1962 lows and 3 new highs.

In the steels, Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Continental, Lukens and Inland rose fractions to a point. Among the motors, Chrysler and General Motors added a point apiece, the latter on news that it will give buyers of its 1963 cars a two-year, or 24,000 mile, warranty.

Chemicals were mostly higher with Du Pont up 3 and Allied up 1. Electronics put in a strong showing with IBM up 7¼ and Texas Instruments, Zenith and Litton up at least 1 or better. Among the blue chips, Alcoa rose 2⅜, General Foods 1, International Nickel 1⅜, and Johns-Manville 1.

The Dow-Jones rails were up 0.17. Utilities slipped 0.51 as Con Edison rose 1¼ and Houston Lighting dipped 2⅜ and Peoples Gas 1.

Litton topped the most active list, up 1¼ on a turnover of 84,700 shares. This was followed by Polaroid up 4⅛, General Motors, U.S. Steel, and Xerox up ¾. Twelve of the 15 most active managed gains.

Prices on the American Exchange were irregularly higher on a turnover of 960,000 shares compared with 1,410,000 in the previous session. Featured issues included Syntex up ¾, Edo Corp. up ⅝ and Paddington up ½.

Stocks Close At Highest Level Since Late August

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks snapped a string of three declines Tuesday and closed at their best levels since the end of August.

The list opened much the same as in the three previous sessions—easier—but began to rally shortly after a Senate Judiciary Committee declined to vote contempt citations against four steel companies and nine of their executives who refused to surrender secret cost data. Steels were quick to respond and the enthusiasm spread quickly to most other sections of the list.

Dow-Jones industrials were up 5.31—their sharpest climb since they rose 6.86 on Aug. 31. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index tacked on 0.33 and trading totaled 3,620,000 shares compared with 5,000,000 in the previous session.

A total of 1,251 issues were traded of which 604 advanced and 375 declined—of these 49 hit new 1962 lows and 3 new highs.

In the steels, Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Continental, Lukens and Inland rose fractions to a point. Among the motors, Chrysler and General Motors added a point apiece, the latter on news that it will give buyers of its 1963 cars a two-year, or 24,000 mile, warranty.

Chemicals were mostly higher with Du Pont up 3 and Allied up 1. Electronics put in a strong showing with IBM up 7¼ and Texas Instruments, Zenith and Litton up at least 1 or better. Among the blue chips, Alcoa rose 2⅜, General Foods 1, International Nickel 1⅜, and Johns-Manville 1.

The Dow-Jones rails were up 0.17. Utilities slipped 0.51 as Con Edison rose 1¼ and Houston Lighting dipped 2⅜ and Peoples Gas 1.

Litton topped the most active list, up 1¼ on a turnover of 84,700 shares. This was followed by Polaroid up 4⅛, General Motors, U.S. Steel, and Xerox up ¾. Twelve of the 15 most active managed gains.

Prices on the American Exchange were irregularly higher on a turnover of 960,000 shares compared with 1,410,000 in the previous session. Featured issues included Syntex up ¾, Edo Corp. up ⅝ and Paddington up ½.

Included in the expenditures is $34,200 for more lines and dial equipment at Frederick, and $25,700 for improvement of transmission between Cumberland and Frostburg by establishing two amplifying stations along the main cable route.

Political Foes Invited To Roast

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP) — Maryland voters are invited to meet their statewide candidates — both Republican and Democratic — at a bull roast Oct. 13.

The Towson Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the affair on the state fairgrounds as part of a get-out-the-vote drive.

Gov. Tawes, who is seeking re-election on the Democratic ticket, reluctantly declined to attend the bull roast. He said he had an extremely heavy schedule that day.

Frank Small Jr., Tawes' Republican opponent, said he, too, had a busy schedule but would try to attend.

Rep. Daniel Brewster, D-Md., Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, and his Republican foe, Edward Miller, are among those expected to be present at the roast.

City To Attend RR Hearing

The Mayor and Council said Monday it would have a representative at a hearing of the Interstate Commerce Commission here Thursday, October 4, into the B&O Railroad application to discontinue service of its two Speedliners between Washington and Pittsburgh.

Council acted at the request of the Legislative Committee of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen who said the hearing will be held at the Allegany County Court House at 9:30 a. m.

The city has already protested discontinuance of the two trains as has the Maryland Public Service Commission.

A letter was received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners from Harold K. Ritter, secretary of a local unit of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, asking the board to appear at a hearing October 4 at 9:30 a. m. on the request of the B&O Railroad for discontinuance of the Speedliner passenger train.

Commissioner John J. Rowan said he would appear to voice his objection. He also said that the board should go on record as being against the move. No action was taken in this regard.

El Fidel Units To Elect Officers

The El Fidel Club and the El Fidel Ladies Auxiliary will meet jointly Thursday, 7:30 p. m., at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Officers for the ensuing year will be elected at this meeting, according to B. E. DeBolt, president.

New officers will be installed at an installation dance and buffet to be held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club on Saturday, October 13. The dance will begin at 9:30 p. m., with music by Happy Laughner's orchestra, and the buffet will be served at 11 p. m.

Plans will also be discussed for the annual Christmas party to be held Saturday, December 8, This will be in the form of a dinner-dance and will be at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Charles Hare is chairman of the Christmas party.

Board Delays Action On Furnace

Action was held up on two bids for a new heating plant for the Union Street County building at yesterday's meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners pending further study.

The bids were $4,254.51 by C. R. Davis Plumbing and Heating Company for a hand-fired coal furnace and $3,997.09 for a gas-fired furnace. The Robinson Plumbing and Heating Company, Inc., bid $3,262 for a hand-fired coal furnace.

Commissioner John T. Mason made a motion to accept the low bid of the Robinson firm but it was lost for want of a second. Both Commissioners John J. Rowan and Louis V. Shinnamon said they want to check the bids before acting.

Included in the expenditures is $34,200 for more lines and dial equipment at Frederick, and $25,700 for improvement of transmission between Cumberland and Frostburg by establishing two amplifying stations along the main cable route.

Political Foes Invited To Roast

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP) — Maryland voters are invited to meet their statewide candidates — both Republican and Democratic — at a bull roast Oct. 13.

The Towson Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the affair on the state fairgrounds as part of a get-out-the-vote drive.

Gov. Tawes, who is seeking re-election on the Democratic ticket, reluctantly declined to attend the bull roast. He said he had an extremely heavy schedule that day.

Frank Small Jr., Tawes' Republican opponent, said he, too, had a busy schedule but would try to attend.

Rep. Daniel Brewster, D-Md., Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, and his Republican foe, Edward Miller, are among those expected to be present at the roast.

City To Attend RR Hearing

The Mayor and Council said Monday it would have a representative at a hearing of the Interstate Commerce Commission here Thursday, October 4, into the B&O Railroad application to discontinue service of its two Speedliners between Washington and Pittsburgh.

Council acted at the request of the Legislative Committee of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen who said the hearing will be held at the Allegany County Court House at 9:30 a. m.

The city has already protested discontinuance of the two trains as has the Maryland Public Service Commission.

A letter was received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners from Harold K. Ritter, secretary of a local unit of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, asking the board to appear at a hearing October 4 at 9:30 a. m. on the request of the B&O Railroad for discontinuance of the Speedliner passenger train.

Commissioner John J. Rowan said he would appear to voice his objection. He also said that the board should go on record as being against the move. No action was taken in this regard.

Board Delays Action On Furnace

Action was held up on two bids for a new heating plant for the Union Street County building at yesterday's meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners pending further study.

The bids were $4,254.51 by C. R. Davis Plumbing and Heating Company for a hand-fired coal furnace and $3,997.09 for a gas-fired furnace. The Robinson Plumbing and Heating Company, Inc., bid $3,262 for a hand-fired coal furnace.

Commissioner John T. Mason made a motion to accept the low bid of the Robinson firm but it was lost for want of a second. Both Commissioners John J. Rowan and Louis V. Shinnamon said they want to check the bids before acting.

He was affiliated with the old Citizens National and Citizens Savings banks, before they and two other banks merged to form the Liberty Trust Company in 1921.

Mason For 68 Years

Mr. Holzshu was a Mason for 68 years, affiliated with Potomac Lodge No. 100, AF & AM; the Knights Templar, the Scottish Rite, Ali Ghan Shrine, and the Loyal Order of Jesters. For a number of years he had been the oldest living past commander of the Knights Templar.

He was a director and treasurer of the Cumberland Development Company which fostered establishment of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company here.

He had held membership in the Rotary Club, the Chamber of Commerce, Shawnee Canoe Club, Hampshire Club, Diesel Club, and the old German Lutheran Church. He was a past president of the former Cumberland Real Estate Board.

The oldest member of BPOE Lodge 63 in years of service and in age, he held Number 17, having joined shortly after the Cumberland lodge was founded.

Mr. Holzshu received his education in public schools, the German Lutheran "Town Clock" School and Allegany County Academy.

He was instrumental in bringing electricity to Cumberland, and with it the streetcars. He was an officer in both the Edison Electric Company and the Cumberland Electric Railway Company, which later became part of the Potomac Edison Company.

An ardent golfer, he was past president of the Cumberland Country Club, where he held a life membership.

Worked To Age 93

Mr. Holzshu worked at his office regularly until he was past 93 and continued to do book work until he was admitted to the hospital two weeks ago.

Surviving are two sons, Charles D. Holzshu, Ruxton, and J. Henry Holzshu, city; two granddaughters, Mrs. Richard Jones, Baltimore, and Virginia A. Holzshu, city; three great-grandsons, and a number of nieces and nephews, including Marie K. Holzshu, city. His wife, Alice M. (Zieler) Holzshu, died in 1945.

The body is at the Kight Funeral Home where a service will be conducted Thursday at 3:30 p. m. Rev. H. M. Richardson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, will officiate and interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Fight Against Alfalfa Weevil Cited By Steger

Farmers of Western Maryland and nearby counties of West Virginia are being reminded that next month is the best time to combat alfalfa weevil.

Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent, said his office is getting a number of inquiries pertaining to the control of the insect.

Treat each acre with one pound actual heptachlor or dieldrin, either mixed in fertilizer or in spray form in the fall after the last cutting, is the advice given farmers by Mr. Steger.

New seedlings should be treated as well as older stands. The insecticide kills adult weevils and thus prevents egg-laying, most of which occurs in the spring.

Democrats Open Series Of Rallies

The first of a series of Democratic rallies to be held throughout Allegany County between now and election day was held at the American Legion Home in Frostburg Monday night.

Mrs. Ann Kenney, president of Frostburg Democratic Women's Club which sponsored the rally, introduced guests. They included Mrs. Margaret McQuown, president of the United Democratic Women's Club; Miller Bowen, president of Young Democrats Club; Edward Welsh, representative of State Comptroller's office; Dr. Virginia Mills and a group of her political science students from Frostburg State Teachers College, and local candidates.

F. Allan Weatherholt and Edward Flanigan, trial magistrates and members of the State Central Committee, were the main speakers. Mr. Weatherholt spoke in behalf of the state candidates, and Mr. Flanigan for the county candidates.

Mr. Weatherholt said the best weapon Democrats can employ in the campaign is the record established by the Republicans in Maryland's leaner years. He pointed out that under Governor Tawes, Maryland's fiscal health has become nationally recognized. He praised the administration's highway building program, the governor's role in securing reapportionment against what he called "consistent Republican opposition," enactment of a savings and loan regulatory law and the progress the state has made under Tawes in the field of human rights.

"For Republican leaders to assume the citizens of this state are willing to abandon such progressive programs and delegate the responsibility for handling the state's affairs to a party rooted in Eighteenth Century concepts is naive indeed," he said.

Mr. Flanigan referred to the record of the Democratic county commissioners, citing progress made by them in financing, lowering the tax rate, and improvement of county institutions. He praised the work of Delegates William Walsh and Thomas F. Conlon in the State Legislature. Flanigan also said that for the first time in its history Democrats have been able to present three candidates for the office of Judge of Orphans Court.

County Commissioner John T. Mason spoke briefly on behalf of John Long, candidate for commissioner. He said Mr. Long has spent many years in city government and would be an asset on the county board.

Other speakers were Patrick Farrell for the Orphan's Court ticket and George Walters, candidate for House of Delegates.

Court Explains Its Decision On Apportionment

Present Senate System Upheld

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The majority of Maryland's Court of Appeals said Tuesday makeup of the State Senate on a county basis is rooted in history, follows the plan of the federal Congress annd does not conflict with anything in the 14th Amendment.

The opinion was filed in amplification of a 4-3 decision by the state's highest court on July 23 which held that the makeup of the Senate need not be related to population. The House of Delegates had already been reapportioned to give metropolitan areas more seats.

Dissents were filed by Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune and Judges Stedman Prescott and Charles Marbury.

Reasons For Distinction

The majority opinion, written by Judge William L. Henderson, took note of arguments that the Maryland Legislature abandoned the plan of geographical representation for the U.S. Senate when it gave Baltimore City additional senators.

Judge Henderson said there were reasons for such a distinction in Baltimore City's role in state affairs and that around the turn of the century "it mustered enough political power to enlarge its representation." The city now has six senators.

Judges Hall Hammond, William R. Horney and James McGill concurred.

Chief Judge Brune said he thought it was clear that in ordering further proceedings on a Michigan Senate case the Supreme Court meant "that the mere fact one house of a state legislature is apportioned strictly in accordance with population does not immunize the apportionment of the other from attack under the 14th amendment."

Dissenters Explain

He said the Michigan Senate and House were both apportioned much more nearly in line with population than is Maryland's legislature.

Judges Prescott and Marbury concurred in Judge Brune's opinion and filed an additional dissent, saying that the court had now gone against one of its findings when it initially ordered action the reapportionment question.

At that time the high court said there was a strong implication from the Supreme Court that there must be some reasonable relationship of population, or eligible voters, to representation in the legislature in order to escape the label of constitutionally invidious discrimination.

School Boards Discuss Teacher Pay, Tenure

The retirement of public school teachers and a longer probation period for new teachers were among the matters discussed yesterday when members of the boards of education and superintendents of schools in Western Maryland met at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Dr. William M. Brish, superintendent of schools in Washington County, was in charge of the agenda of the "informal forum" which was presided over by Franklin R. Miller, president of the Washington County board.

Those attending agreed that recommendations for teacher retirement and a longer probation period should be made to the Maryland Department of Education and the County Superintendents Association.

They feel that consideration should be made for retirement at 65 and that their employment between the ages of 65 and 70 (the compulsory retirement age) should be decided on a year-to-year basis by the county board of education. Teachers may retire when they are 60.

Longer Probation

The present probation period for a new teacher is two years and it is felt that a longer period should be required for tenure.

Dr. Brish suggested that a program of state aid to education be established on the basis of cost-per-pupil. He said the present state approach to aid for education is tied too closely to the teacher salary scale.

In addition to curriculum, he said, the most important problems county boards face are increased enrollment, teachers' salaries and building programs.

He presented material listing teachers' salary scales in a geographical order — Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick, and the pay goes up for teachers as one moves from Garrett County toward Frederick County.

Building Programs

The current building programs of the four counties were outlined during the meeting.

Those who attended expressed willingness to meet with the commissioners of the four counties if they so desire to discuss various problems in the education field.

J. Goodloe Jackson, president of the Allegany County Board of Education, said the counties must face the fact that more money must be provided for education. The most important function of government is education, according to Mr. Jackson. He said, "A county can have much in many fields, but with an uninformed citizenship, it would have nothing.

Maurice Brookhart, president of the Garrett County Board of Education, said teacher pay is the biggest problem in that county, and the board and commissioners work closely together. Both realize the financial limitations of the county, he said.

Local Problem

Willard Hawkins, superintendent of Garrett County Schools, said salaries are basically local problems.

Mr. Miller was pleased with the interest shown by the representatives of the four counties and pointed out that all participated in the program on an equal basis.

Yesterday's meeting was initiated by the Washington County Board of Education as a result of a suggestion by the Washington County Board of Commissioners.

Luncheon was served after the meeting.

Ike, Visiting Bedford, Takes Swipe At JFK

Addresses Pa. Republicans

BEDFORD, Pa. (UPI) —Former President Eisenhower said Tuesday night that he did not think the Kennedy administration was living up to its slogan to "get this country moving."

Eisenhower, at a press conference prior to his speech to a state Republican rally here, was asked to comment on the slogan and quipped:

"I don't see where he has got it going at all. It's going down instead of up."

Eisenhower defended his own administration as one that had a "great record."

"The President himself recently said one of the issues of the campaign will be that the Eisenhower administration drifted," Eisenhower said. "I think the boot is on the other foot if he said that."

On the Berlin situation, Eisenhower said the East Germans were permitted too much leeway in erecting the barricade between the sectors of the divided city.

"The question we ought to answer is what would have happened on the very first morning when the barbed wire started to go up and what we could have done then," the former President said. "Who would have dared to oppose us?"

Eisenhower had words of praise for his former vice president, Richard M. Nixon, who is a Republican candidate for governor of California.

"Mr. Nixon is an excellent student, decisive, a man of courage and decision," Eisenhower said. "I would be very happy to live in any state which had Richard Nixon as governor."

Farmers of Western Maryland and nearby counties of West Virginia are being reminded that next month is the best time to combat alfalfa weevil.

Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent, said his office is getting a number of inquiries pertaining to the control of the insect.

Treat each acre with one pound actual heptachlor or dieldrin, either mixed in fertilizer or in spray form in the fall after the last cutting, is the advice given farmers by Mr. Steger.

New seedlings should be treated as well as older stands. The insecticide kills adult weevils and thus prevents egg-laying, most of which occurs in the spring.

Democrats Open Series Of Rallies

The first of a series of Democratic rallies to be held throughout Allegany County between now and election day was held at the American Legion Home in Frostburg Monday night.

Mrs. Ann Kenney, president of Frostburg Democratic Women's Club which sponsored the rally, introduced guests. They included Mrs. Margaret McQuown, president of the United Democratic Women's Club; Miller Bowen, president of Young Democrats Club; Edward Welsh, representative of State Comptroller's office; Dr. Virginia Mills and a group of her political science students from Frostburg State Teachers College, and local candidates.

F. Allan Weatherholt and Edward Flanigan, trial magistrates and members of the State Central Committee, were the main speakers. Mr. Weatherholt spoke in behalf of the state candidates, and Mr. Flanigan for the county candidates.

Mr. Weatherholt said the best weapon Democrats can employ in the campaign is the record established by the Republicans in Maryland's leaner years. He pointed out that under Governor Tawes, Maryland's fiscal health has become nationally recognized. He praised the administration's highway building program, the governor's role in securing reapportionment against what he called "consistent Republican opposition," enactment of a savings and loan regulatory law and the progress the state has made under Tawes in the field of human rights.

"For Republican leaders to assume the citizens of this state are willing to abandon such progressive programs and delegate the responsibility for handling the state's affairs to a party rooted in Eighteenth Century concepts is naive indeed," he said.

Mr. Flanigan referred to the record of the Democratic county commissioners, citing progress made by them in financing, lowering the tax rate, and improvement of county institutions. He praised the work of Delegates William Walsh and Thomas F. Conlon in the State Legislature. Flanigan also said that for the first time in its history Democrats have been able to present three candidates for the office of Judge of Orphans Court.

County Commissioner John T. Mason spoke briefly on behalf of John Long, candidate for commissioner. He said Mr. Long has spent many years in city government and would be an asset on the county board.

Other speakers were Patrick Farrell for the Orphan's Court ticket and George Walters, candidate for House of Delegates.

Court Explains Its Decision On Apportionment

Present Senate System Upheld

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The majority of Maryland's Court of Appeals said Tuesday makeup of the State Senate on a county basis is rooted in history, follows the plan of the federal Congress annd does not conflict with anything in the 14th Amendment.

The opinion was filed in amplification of a 4-3 decision by the state's highest court on July 23 which held that the makeup of the Senate need not be related to population. The House of Delegates had already been reapportioned to give metropolitan areas more seats.

Dissents were filed by Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune and Judges Stedman Prescott and Charles Marbury.

Reasons For Distinction

The majority opinion, written by Judge William L. Henderson, took note of arguments that the Maryland Legislature abandoned the plan of geographical representation for the U.S. Senate when it gave Baltimore City additional senators.

Judge Henderson said there were reasons for such a distinction in Baltimore City's role in state affairs and that around the turn of the century "it mustered enough political power to enlarge its representation." The city now has six senators.

Judges Hall Hammond, William R. Horney and James McGill concurred.

Chief Judge Brune said he thought it was clear that in ordering further proceedings on a Michigan Senate case the Supreme Court meant "that the mere fact one house of a state legislature is apportioned strictly in accordance with population does not immunize the apportionment of the other from attack under the 14th amendment."

Dissenters Explain

He said the Michigan Senate and House were both apportioned much more nearly in line with population than is Maryland's legislature.

Judges Prescott and Marbury concurred in Judge Brune's opinion and filed an additional dissent, saying that the court had now gone against one of its findings when it initially ordered action the reapportionment question.

At that time the high court said there was a strong implication from the Supreme Court that there must be some reasonable relationship of population, or eligible voters, to representation in the legislature in order to escape the label of constitutionally invidious discrimination.

School Boards Discuss Teacher Pay, Tenure

The retirement of public school teachers and a longer probation period for new teachers were among the matters discussed yesterday when members of the boards of education and superintendents of schools in Western Maryland met at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Dr. William M. Brish, superintendent of schools in Washington County, was in charge of the agenda of the "informal forum" which was presided over by Franklin R. Miller, president of the Washington County board.

Those attending agreed that recommendations for teacher retirement and a longer probation period should be made to the Maryland Department of Education and the County Superintendents Association.

They feel that consideration should be made for retirement at 65 and that their employment between the ages of 65 and 70 (the compulsory retirement age) should be decided on a year-to-year basis by the county board of education. Teachers may retire when they are 60.

Longer Probation

The present probation period for a new teacher is two years and it is felt that a longer period should be required for tenure.

Dr. Brish suggested that a program of state aid to education be established on the basis of cost-per-pupil. He said the present state approach to aid for education is tied too closely to the teacher salary scale.

In addition to curriculum, he said, the most important problems county boards face are increased enrollment, teachers' salaries and building programs.

He presented material listing teachers' salary scales in a geographical order — Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick, and the pay goes up for teachers as one moves from Garrett County toward Frederick County.

Building Programs

The current building programs of the four counties were outlined during the meeting.

Those who attended expressed willingness to meet with the commissioners of the four counties if they so desire to discuss various problems in the education field.

J. Goodloe Jackson, president of the Allegany County Board of Education, said the counties must face the fact that more money must be provided for education. The most important function of government is education, according to Mr. Jackson. He said, "A county can have much in many fields, but with an uninformed citizenship, it would have nothing.

Maurice Brookhart, president of the Garrett County Board of Education, said teacher pay is the biggest problem in that county, and the board and commissioners work closely together. Both realize the financial limitations of the county, he said.

Local Problem

Willard Hawkins, superintendent of Garrett County Schools, said salaries are basically local problems.

Mr. Miller was pleased with the interest shown by the representatives of the four counties and pointed out that all participated in the program on an equal basis.

Yesterday's meeting was initiated by the Washington County Board of Education as a result of a suggestion by the Washington County Board of Commissioners.

Luncheon was served after the meeting.

Ike, Visiting Bedford, Takes Swipe At JFK

Addresses Pa. Republicans

BEDFORD, Pa. (UPI) —Former President Eisenhower said Tuesday night that he did not think the Kennedy administration was living up to its slogan to "get this country moving."

Eisenhower, at a press conference prior to his speech to a state Republican rally here, was asked to comment on the slogan and quipped:

"I don't see where he has got it going at all. It's going down instead of up."

Eisenhower defended his own administration as one that had a "great record."

"The President himself recently said one of the issues of the campaign will be that the Eisenhower administration drifted," Eisenhower said. "I think the boot is on the other foot if he said that."

On the Berlin situation, Eisenhower said the East Germans were permitted too much leeway in erecting the barricade between the sectors of the divided city.

"The question we ought to answer is what would have happened on the very first morning when the barbed wire started to go up and what we could have done then," the former President said. "Who would have dared to oppose us?"

Eisenhower had words of praise for his former vice president, Richard M. Nixon, who is a Republican candidate for governor of California.

"Mr. Nixon is an excellent student, decisive, a man of courage and decision," Eisenhower said. "I would be very happy to live in any state which had Richard Nixon as governor."

Road Problems Occupy Board

A protest on the closing of streets and alleys in the Peoples Park Addition to LaVale was voiced by a county resident yesterday during the regular meeting of the Board of Commissioners.

Mrs. Lester Mullenax, RD 4, city, and Mrs. Maggie Smith, Spring Gap, attended the meeting and presented a petition signed by 57 persons who want resurfacing work done on a section of the original Oldtown Road.

The section of road they want resurfaced runs from Maryland Route 51 at Mill Stone Run and returns to Route 51 further east.

Commissioner John J. Rowan informed the women the county roads department is trying to cope with dust problems in various sections of the county and that a tank truck has been purchased to combat the problem.

In other business yesterday, James G. Stevenson, clerk of the board, was instructed to have work started on the lights and a painting project in the law library at the Court House.
